Marin Has Prosperous Yule Business Season

By RANDALL GOULD

Business sunshine shot through Marin County's foggy pre-Christmas season to brighten the lives of merchants along with givers and receivers of gifts, a county survey showed today.

A few business houses claimed phenomenal sales; the majority said their trade had been considerably greater than usual; hardly any noted a decline from past Christmas seasons.

To some extent there was an "opposite pole" report from Novato, a new city showing boom-town tendencies in North Marin, and Sausalito which in some instances found cold weather discouraged trade.

Most points in between felt things were mighty good this year.

"Ten per cent above last year" was the general report of Novato merchants to the Novato Chamber of Commerce, according to manager Herbert Sears.

"Almost without exception our merchants had their biggest year ever," Sears amplified. Novato's postal business estimated was between 10 and 15 per cent over the 1960 season.

Kaufman's in San Anselmo had just finished a big remodeling program which owner Mozart Kaufman said was instrumental in giving him "absolutely fantastic" business — "double the increase I had planned."

Kaufman said other San Anselmo merchants had all told him they experienced an excellent season.

Milton Schwartz, chairman of the retail merchants committee of the San Rafael chamber, said reports to him as well as observation of business at his own Casa Marin furniture store indicated that "generally it was a big season."

Granville L. Beedle, Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce secretary-manager, said Mill Valley businessmen reported a much heavier volume of sales than in previous years.

Beedle said downtown Christ-

SOVIET VIEW

Battle Of Sexes Called Un(Eve)n In United States

MOSCOW (UPI) — American family life is a one-sided battle between a tyrannical Eve and a confused Adam, according to Izvestia, the Soviet newspaper edited by Premier Nikita Khrushchev's son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei.

The government newspaper said the battle of the sexes is so uneven in the United States that a current philosophical theory expounds the premise that "Eve came first and Adam second."

The article was written by A. Vasinsky and appeared in the Christmas day issue of the mass-circulated daily. Vasinsky's attack on the U. S. family came less than a month after Izvestia printed the full text of Adzhubei's interview in the U. S. with President John F. Kennedy.

From Vasinsky, Russians were given the full story of the American "Comrade and Mrs. —All About Eve."

"Judging by American sources," he said, "the ruling class in the United States is not the capitalists but the women. American men have urgently considered their emanicipation."

Vasinsky's peek at American life showed him that the male was forced to offset the "despotism of family life" by hogging all the good professional jobs.

He explained that this denied American women the chance to make a living in a "worthy way," forcing many of them along the path of dalliance.

Some American women, he said, practice the "humiliating profession of call girl and visit rich clients after a telephone call."

"Actresses appear . . . in frankly pornographic films and must reconcile themselves to the insulting label of sex bomb," Vasinsky said.

Vasinsky, whose article purported to be something of a comparison between the little woman in Russia and her counterpart in America, said his dim view of the situation was backed by plenty of printed matter.

He said the latest edition of Emily Post emphasized the duties of men toward women, and popular magazines such as Life and Look ignore men in order to revel in the "fair sex."

The author said the fact that women in the U. S. did not have to work was misleading. He said only the wealthy did not have to find a job, while poor women who needed a job could not go out and get one because there were no public kindergartens to take care of their children.

Kennedy To Ask To Buy U.N. Bonds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President John F. Kennedy will ask Congress early next year for authority to buy up to 100 million dollars in United Nations bonds, officials announced today.

The U.N. General Assembly last week authorized Secretary General Thant to issue up to 200 million dollars worth of U.N. bonds to bail the world organization out of its current financial crisis.

The United Nations now has a big deficit of unpaid contributions from member countries which stood at 104 million dollars last Nov. 30.

Harland Cleveland, assistant secretary of state for international affairs, announced Kennedy's decision. He said congressional leaders already have been asked to facilitate prompt action.

The president's request is expected to bring considerable argument and controversy in the wake of public criticism of U.N. policies in The Congo and Katanga Province.

The 200-million-dollar bond issue voted by the General Assembly last week is specifically for the U.N.'s two current peace-keeping operations—The Congo and the U.N. emergency force (UNEF) consisting of 5,100 troops policing the Gaza Strip along the Israeli-Egyptian border.

The total cost of the 17,000 U.N. troops in The Congo has been running 120 million dollars a year. The United States has been paying about 47 and one-half per cent of this.

Shark Tears Off One Arm Of Girl, 18

MACKAY, Australia (UPI) — A shark tore off one arm and part of the other arm of an 18-year-old girl wading only 12 feet from shore today.

Margaret Hobbs, a schoolteacher trainee, also suffered serious gashes on her right thigh.

Miss Hobbs was standing with Martin Steffan, 24, in about two and one-half feet of water when the shark attacked.

Eyewitnesses, who estimated the shark was about 10 feet long, said it made three separate attacks on the couple.

'OH, GIVE ME A HOME . . .'

Tony, a one-year-old spider monkey, dropped into the Independent-Journal office today to type out the news that his owner, Michael Casselman, is looking for a good home for him and will give him to the first kindly person who applies. Casselman, 18, of 5 Westwood Drive in San Rafael, said he is parting with Tony only because of a lack of space. The 15-pound monkey is reportedly friendly and enjoys the same diet as a human being. A 6-by-6-by-4-foot cage goes with Tony, Casselman said. (Independent-Journal photo)

Red Guards Turn Dogs On Refugees

BERLIN (UPI) — Communist guards patrolling the "death zone" along the East-West Berlin border set fierce dog packs against East Germans trying to seek refuge in the West today, West Berlin police reported.

At least one refugee from communism was believed to have drowned in the River Spree in an escape bid during the early morning hours.

East German guards on night patrol duties along the wall dividing East from West Berlin have been reinforced with specially-trained dogs. West Berlin police saw flares and heard the barking on the border before dawn today.

They said Communist police were pursuing several persons trying to get through the barricaded border. The refugees did not get through.

Water Press Aide Quits —'Pressures'

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Frank Bragg, author of a controversial memo ordering use of Gov. Edmund G. Brown's name in press releases, resigned today as public information officer for the State Water Resources Department.

Bragg, 41, declined to comment in detail on his resignation, but said it was because of the furor over the memo and related pressures.

"I have lots of reasons, but I don't want to make any comment because it would only hurt the department," he said.

A civil service employee, Braff had been with the state for five and a half years. He was public information officer for the Department of Fish and Game before he moved to the Water Resources Department. He was a reporter for the Sacramento Bee before that.

Fred Rupp, special representative of department Director William E. Warne, said Bragg was not asked to resign.

Two Children Die As Jet Hits House

PADUA, Italy (UPI) — An Italian Air Force F-86 jet fighter crashed into a village farmhouse and burned near here today, killing two children and injuring 17 persons.

Police said the plane, stationed at Istrana Air Base near Treviso, had engine failure. Its pilot, Lt. Salvatore Russo, bailed out safely.

No other persons were missing, police said. The house in the village of Pra was owned by several families. The dead children were 1 and 3-year-old nephews of Luigi Botaro who were visiting from Bolzano.

Marin Mayors Support Rapid Transit Proposal

The mayors of San Rafael, San Anselmo, Mill Valley and Sausalito are solidly in support of Bay Area rapid transit, they said today on the radio KTIM "Marin Sounding Board."

The mayors, John F. McInnis of San Rafael, Carleton G. E. Little of San Anselmo, Robert D. Huber of Mill Valley and Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. of Sausalito, gave their views in answer to a listener's question. Mayor Wayne Womack said the Novato City Council had taken no vote on the matter.

The program will be rebroadcast at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Under the heading, "Marin Looks Ahead," each mayor cited achievements of 1961 and challenges to be faced in 1962.

For San Rafael, McInnis said traffic, public parking and location of Highway 101 were top problems. He said the city now is asking that traffic enter and leave the relocated freeway at D Street. This, he said, has "stalled" the State Division of Highways.

McInnis said the present city hall "is sadly inadequate" in his opinion. A preliminary report on size, arrangement and location of a new city hall is to be given the city council next month by a consultant firm.

Mayor Little said San Anselmo had expanded and remodeled its library for the first time in 30 years in a $55,000 project, built a second firehouse at $65,000, and added to the city hall at $30,000.

He said that in 1962 it hoped to implement the town center plan, continue improving streets, and find a new location for firehouse No. 1.

Mayor Huber said 64 items had been acted on by Mill Valley in 1961 and plans for a small craft harbor were progressing. He said Miller Avenue was being improved at a cost of $87,000, part of this born by the county.

Mayor Womack said Novato, still less than two years old, had formed a police department of five men and one clerk and increased it to eight men and one clerk. He said it started a public works department and parks and recreation commission.

No. 1 challenge for 1962, said Womack, is the location of Highway 101. He said state officials planned for it to run through the center of Novato and citizens have asked that

Transit Board Orders Two Sets Of Plans

The San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District board today voted to have plans drawn for a three-county system and also a four-county system which would include Marin.

It was expected the report by the district's engineering staff and consultants, Parsons, Brinkerhoff-Tudor-Bechtel, would be ready in 60 to 90 days.

The board's action followed the recent vote by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors to withdraw from the rapid transit planning.

The board named Richard J. Shephard, acting secretary, permanent secretary, succeeding Capt. A. M. Cohan, retired. No replacement was named for Shephard as administrative assistant.

Sausalito Home Looted Of Gems

Belated Report Given Of Yule Eve Burglary

Burglars entered the home of Mrs. Sally C. Stapp in Sausalito on Christmas Eve, took jewelry from her bedroom bureau as she slept nearby, removed all the presents from under the Christmas tree, and escaped with loot valued at more than $20,000.

Two nights later, Mrs. Stapp said, someone again tried to break into her home at 49 Cloud View Road.

The disclosure came amid alarm among Sausalito residents which caused one matron to request that all mention of New Year's parties in Sausalito be omitted from the Independent-Journal lest homes of guests be looted while they were away.

Mrs. Stapp said she is considering selling her home and moving elsewhere. She said a friend has her home up for sale because she is afraid to stay in Sausalito.

She also said she has asked members of the Sausalito Woman's Club, of which she was president last year, to request the city council for more police protection.

Mrs. Stapp said six homes near hers have also been entered.

"People have recommended I get a ferocious dog and use bolts and chains on windows and doors. If I have to live that way, I don't want to live," she declared.

Chief Goerndt said he has increased the patrol in the hill area as much as possible since the burglary.

Mrs. Stapp told police she went to bed at 8:30 p.m. Saturday. She awoke at 5 a.m. and found her entire house had been ransacked. She said her bedroom door, which she had locked, was open. Drawers in her bureau were opened with things spilling out. Her jewelry boxes were missing.

Police said Mrs. Stapp's son's bedroom window upstairs was open, as was the back door, which had been locked.

Burglars stepped over Mrs. Stapp's niece's high chair in the kitchen, she said. Presents wrapped to give to her niece, nephew and son on Christmas Day were all taken.

The dog, a Bedlington puppy named Cricket, had not awakened.

Stolen were linens, jewelry, perfume, a complete set of monogrammed silver, carving sets, serving spoons, four pearl-handled fruit knives, a 200-year-old dog basket, among many other items.

Mrs. Stapp described the burglars as "connoisseurs who knew antiques."

"When we first came to Sausalito 17 years ago, we never even had keys to our houses," she declared.

MOSTLY POLITICAL

State's Top Ten News Stories Of '61

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The re-entry of Richard M. Nixon and Goodwin J. Knight into California politics as active candidates was seen today as the top California political story of 1961.

The Capitol News Service rated the announcements of their candidacies, their subsequent feud over Knight's charges he had been offered a top job to get out of the race, and Knight's later illness as overshadowing other political developments during a rather busy non-election year.

While the 1961 session of the legislature was rated as a "do nothing" session by some and a "do little" by others, the CNS tabbed this as the second biggest story for the year. Top actions in the legislature included passage of a record-breaking 2.6-billion-dollar budget, enactment of tougher narcotics penalty bills and passage of a teacher credentials bill.

The other eight top political or governmental stories picked by CNS were:

3. Election of Assemblymen Jesse M. Unruh (D-L.A.), as speaker of the assembly.

4. The blow-up between Gov. Edmund G. Brown and one of his top lieutenants, Robert McCarthy. McCarthy resigned in August from his post as director of motor vehicles, and said he no longer could work for what he termed the "spineless" administration.

5. The book-burning scandal. It was revealed the department of education had ordered hundreds of thousands of brand new books burned because they were obsolete. Investigations showed also that the state printing plant often printed 10 per cent more books than were needed.

6. Tied in closely with the book-burning hassle was the general subject of the state printing plant. Three studies were made and the question still is not settled. A group of private printers said the plant was wasting the taxpayers' money; John E. Carr, director

Naval Depot Inspected As Research Site

Three state assemblymen and nearly a score of federal, state and district officials today inspected the Tiburon Naval Net Depot as possible site for a water pollution control center that would cost up to five million dollars and employ up to 150 scientists and engineers.

None would commit himself as to whether the center will be located at Tiburon — or even in Northern California. But William Grader, field representative for Rep. Clem Miller (D-Corte Madera) declared the Marin congressman regards the Tiburon location as ideal.

Grader said Miller would push for location of the research center here because of its nearness to both Stanford and University of California—sources for the 125 to 150 biologists, chemists, physicists and engineers who will be needed to staff the center; availability of bay, ocean and river waters, and the fact the federal gov-

Katanga Deputies Expected To Ask Constitution Change

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Six Katanga deputies took their seats today in the national Congo Parliament. They were expected to demand revision of The Congo's provisional constitution to relax the control the basic law gives the central government over Katanga and other provinces.

Nine more Katanga deputies were due from Elisabethville today.

Seeing the first group off from Elisabethville, Katanga President Moise Tshombe said they would hold out for a Congo confederation that would give his rich province considerable independence despite the Kitona unity pact. The central government contended the terms Tshombe put on his deputies' mission were at sharp variance with the agreement he reached a week ago with Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula.

Tshombe charged in Elisabethville today that U. N. troops are preparing for a new military offensive against Katanga and that the U. S. Ambassador in Leopoldville, Edmund A. Gullion, is behind it.

Tshombe told a hurriedly called news conference that the United Nations is planning to renew hostilities if the Katanga National Assembly fails to meet Jan. 3 to discuss his agreement with Adoula.

His charges against Gullion were apparently prompted because the U. S. envoy, acting on President John F. Kennedy's instructions, helped bring Tshombe and Adoula together at Kitona last week.

Tshombe said in his secessionist capital that the delegates were sent to bargain for a change in The Congo provisional constitution, which provides for a strong central government, and not to sit in the National Parliament.

"Our Katanga constitution is the basis of the coming Leopoldville talks," Tshombe declared. "It foresees integration in a federation or a confederation of The Congo. We still insist on a confederation."

COMPLIANCE

This indicated Tshombe had sent the delegation in compliance with Article 5 of the Kitona agreement, in which he agreed "to the participation of representatives of the province of Katanga in a government commission to prepare a new constitution."

The Congo's draft constitution — still to be ratified — calls for a strong central government.

Just before leaving Elisabethville, a spokesman for the Katanga deputies said: "We are going to Leopoldville to have that ridiculous fundamental law changed."

As Tshombe maneuvered, tensions remained high in Elisabethville.

7 ARRESTED

Katangan gendarmes yesterday arrested seven Swedish soldiers of the U. N. task force, charging members of Katanga's security forces had been seized since the informal cease-fire was reached a week ago.

In the United States, the Kennedy administration cranked up a campaign in defense of its support of the U. N. effort to end the secession of Katanga.

Speaking in Detroit, G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African affairs, said if the Katanga secession becomes permanent, "there is danger of civil war which may well degenerate into a war of genocide between different tribes in The Congo. Outside militay intervention would all too probably follow."

A Negro State Department official, Deputy Assistant Secretary Carl T. Rowan, charged in a speech in Philadelphia that a pro-Katanga propagandist operating in New York had spent at least $140,000 this year getting "some extremely vocal help in dispersing a string of myths and a stream of misinformation about Katanga and The Congo."

Rowan said the propagandist was "a former Belgian civil servant, Michel Struelens, who operates out of some rather plush quarters in New York." He implied that Struelens has the backing of the European - owned Union Miniere Co., whose copper and cobalt mines in Katanga are the chief reason why the Leopoldville regime wants to end the province's secession.

Struelens was not available for comment but a spokesman for his "Katanga Information Service" said, "We are accountable to the Department of Justice and all our records are on file there."

Strike In Offing

NEW YORK (UPI) — Transit workers booed down a 15-cent hourly wage increase last night and voted to tie up all public transportation in New York City on New Year's Day.

While transport workers union president Michael Quill warned that the men who operate the city's buses and subways might jump the gun and stage a wildcat walkout before the contract deadline, there were indications a settlement might be in the making.

Laos Try For Talks

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma met with King Savang Vathana today and said he would try to keep alive negotiations to form a coalition government.

Souvanna Phouma, who has been designated to head the new unity regime, warned collapse of the talks could plunge Laos into an East-West war as well as civil conflict.

Nehru's View

NEW DELHI, India (UPI)—Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru said today he never doubted that he had "full justification" for using armed force to capture the Portuguese enclaves on India's west coast.

"Nothing in the 14 years of independence has excited and thrilled the people in India as the liberation of Goa," Nehru said. "There is no doubt in my mind of the full justification for use of force against Portugal."

The Indian leader said he had no doubts about India's right to push the Portuguese out by force, "but we did doubt the consequences."

Guinea Visit Planned

LONDON (AP)—One of the Soviet Union's top troubleshooters, First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, will visit Guinea next month in an attempt to smooth ruffled relations with that West African republic, Moscow radio says.

There were rumors in Moscow last week that Guinea's President Sekow Toure had complained to the Kremlin that a Communist plot to overthrow his previously pro-Soviet government had been directed by an "East European embassy."

Eichmann Appeal

COLOGNE, Germany (AP)—Dr. Robert Servatius, defense counsel for Adolf Eichmann, flew to Israel today to seek more time to prepare an appeal against the former S.S. colonel's death sentence.

Servatius has until Dec. 30 to submit an appeal against Eichmann's conviction and sentence.

Bishop Attacked

GRAHAMSTOWN, South Africa (AP)—Two Africans attacked the Anglican bishop of Bloemfontein Wednesday as he picnicked with his wife and stabbed him four times.

The Rev. Bendysche Burnett, 47, was wounded twice in the leg and twice in the stomach and his wife was knocked down.

Police launched a search for the attackers.

Unwed Love Is Ruled Not Crime

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California Supreme Court has ruled that cities and counties have no power to make or enforce laws involving unmarried sexual intercourse.

In a 5-2 opinion yesterday, the court ruled that any local law making fornication or isolated acts of adultery a crime is illegal and void.

The decision freed Carol Lane of Los Angeles from two 30-day jail terms. She had been convicted of violating a Los Angeles ordinance which prohibited among other things using any "vacant lot, room, rooming house, lodging house, residence, apartment house, hotel . . . for the purpose of having sexual intercourse with a person to whom he or she is not married."

The court said the state legislature has pre-empted the area of sex crime by passing laws on the subject, thus divesting cities and counties of jurisdiction.

Prince Charles Hunts For Birds

NORFOLK, England (UPI) — Thirteen-year old Prince Charles joined the men yesterday at the first big pheasant hunt of the Christmas season at Sandringham, the royal country house near here.

"The party got 350 brace (700 birds) and the prince contributed his share," said a caretaker who watched the shoot. "He is coming along nicely."

The hunt with his father, Prince Philip, and other members of the royal family—including Princess Margaret's husband, Lord Snowdon—was another step toward manhood for the teen-ager who some day will be king.

Film Censors Reimposed In Chicago

Ordinance Hit As Last Bastion Of U.S. Bigotry

CHICAGO (UPI)— Chicago reimposed movie censorship yesterday and became, according to an opposing alderman, the "last bastion of bigotry in the United States."

The ordinance giving censorship power to the police department deplaced an earlier law found unconstitutional by the U. S. Supreme Court in 1959.

'FOR BIGOTS'

Leon M. Despres, one of three aldermen who voted against the ordinance and leader of the opposition to it, charged, "every bigot in Chicago will favor this ordinance."

Despres called the ordinance "unconstitutional, un-American and Godless. This is an irreligious, Godless ordinance, substituting individual opinion for family judgment," he said.

The Motion Picture Assn. of America also opposed the ordinance, contending it was just as unconstitutional as the one thrown out two years ago.

ALMOST ALONE

Despres said Chicago was almost alone among the nation's cities in censoring movies.

The new ordinance will permit the police superintendent to ban films found to be obscene. It also will limit showings of certain films to persons over age 17.

It provides for an appeals board, to which decisions of the police censors might be appealed. Appeals board decisions would be subject to review by the courts.

Belief In Horoscopes Called Sin

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Vatican weekly Osservatore Della Domenica said today that astrologers who take their work seriously and sincere believers in astrology are guilty of "grave sin."

"If one really believes the future of man can be known by way of the stars and that a horoscope has infallible and deciding value, one is committing (at least materially) a grave sin," said an article written by Father Reginald Frascisco.

The article said persons who prepare horoscopes with the expectation that people will believe in them also are grave sinners.

"If one compiles horoscopes as something of a conjecture according to what is possible to predict of human consciousness, without the idea of having it accepted as the truth . . . there will be no fault . . ." the article said.

Kennedy Works On State Of Union Talk

The president, basking in the warm sun of his seaside White House, continued a holiday schedule of relaxation, conferences and hospital visits to his ailing 73-year-old father.

Joseph P. Kennedy's condition remains virtually unchanged, according to his physicians. He is suffering from the paralytic after effects of a stroke and pneumonia. However, he was reported inproved from the pneumonia attack.

Advisers here let it be known yesterday that work has been concluded on the 1963 budget, that Kennedy has approved it and that it is balanced. It is expected to be in the neighborhood of 92 billion dollars, about three billion dollars above this year.

Today, the president turned to the important State of the Union Message which he personally will deliver to Congress shortly after it convenes on Jan. 10.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said Kennedy probably will spend the rest of the week working on this review of the nation's progress in the past year, both foreign and domestic. It also traditionally includes a prediction of what may lie ahead.

Governorship Campaign Begun By Rockefeller

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is keeping a door open for a possible bid for the Republican nomination for president in 1964.

At the same time, he is beginning a formal campaign with a declaration that his sole object is "re-election as governor of the state."

From what he said at a news conference yesterday, Rockefeller is entering his campaign for re-election on the premise that:

1. Voters will re-name him governor on the basis of his record.

2. They would have no objection and would even encourage him if he later had an opportunity to win the presidential nomination.

3. A pledge to serve a full, four-year term is therefore unnecessary to win next year.

The governor discussed his political future at a news conference with several other Republican leaders after a six-hour meeting at which they began planning the 1962 campaign.

The governor, with the other GOP leaders surrounding him in his office, told reporters that he and other Republicans would run next year on the party's record and program of the last three years.

He said this record included economic expansion that produced more jobs, record public works construction and higher state aid to education.

Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse predicted Rockefeller would win by a "substantially better plurality" than his 573,000-vote edge of 1958. He defeated Democrat Averell Harriman 3,126,929 votes to 2,553,895.

Short Commute

OLEAN, N. Y. (AP) — Edward J. Morris, Olean's new mayor, doesn't waste much time commuting between his two jobs. The back door of the women's apparel shop he operates is just 49 steps from the side door of City Hall.

Airmen Get Orders To Slim Down

LONDON (AP)—Fat American airmen at two U.S. air bases in Britain have been ordered to slim down.

The order has gone out to more than 100 flight crews and about 2,000 ground crewmen to reduce.

The standard weight chart used sets 170 pounds as the permissible maximum for a man 21-25 years old and 5 feet 8 inches tall. For a 6-footer of the same age, 201 pounds is the maximum.

The reducing drive was a precaution against coronary heart disease.

"We've had one man 28 suffering from the disease and he was overweight," a doctor explained.

The average day's menu at the bases serves a man about 3,000 calories. As a start, the fatties have been told to cut out bread, potatoes, candy and liquor.

The men were told that is they didn't slim down they might be subject to more drastic methods.

BUSINESS

Cold weather was thought by Luther W. Conover, owner of the Trade Fair aboard the ferryboat Berkeley, to have caused business to fall off slightly in Sausalito.

But Stuart Rose, managing Sausalito's Village Fair, had an opposite view. "We have had a considerable increase this year over last," he said.

Belvedere-Tiburon area businessmen said business increased over last Christmas.

Reporting an increased volume of checks passing through Crocker-Anglo National Bank on Belvedere Boardwalk, assistant vice president and manager Howard E. Langford commented, "From what I hear everyone seems to think there was more business on the Boardwalk this year."

Harry Kramar, president of the Corte Madera Center Merchants Council, said: "Business was beyond the expectations for the entire center."

Mrs. Nell Swanson of Larkspur's Fix-It Shop said there was better business than last year, although Kennard Ankers of the Larkspur Hardware found business an opposite result. Dexter's Television and Radio in Larkspur reported some upturn during the season.

All merchants in Greenbrae's Bon Aire Shopping Center were calling business "very good", according to Murry Hilte of the Bon Aire Hardware Store.

Possible Teen Arson Probed

Sheriff's deputies today launched an investigation for possible arson in the burning of furniture in the Terra Linda Community Center teen-age room on two occasions this week.

Fire Chief Richard Flaherty reported that on Tuesday firemen doused a flaming wicker chair in the room. Then yesterday about 12:50 p.m., fireman Edward R. Smith noticed smoke pouring out the community house windows. A divan was smoldering inside.

Sheriff's deputies interrogated five teen-agers, 14 to 16 years old, who were seen at the building shortly before yesterday's fire. However, the boys all denied any knowledge of the burning divan.

STOCKS TODAY

NEW YORK (AP) — The much-touted "year end rally" stumbled after little more than a day of rising prices and the stock market closed mixed today. Trading was very heavy as the session ended.

Last minute tax transactions, many of them to take losses on lower-prices stocks, was one reason cited by brokers for the failure of the rally to make further progress.

Volume for the day was estimated at 4.5 million shares compared with 4.17 million yesterday.

Accident Nets Drunk Booking

Arthur Louis Beringer, 44, of 66 Platte Avenue, Sausalito, was booked in county jail last night on a charge of being drunk in and about an automobile after the car he was driving collided with one driven by Mrs. Gloria Rosenfeld of 49 Toyon Terrace at Spencer Avenue and Monte Mar Drive in Sausalito.

Beringer was treated at Marin General Hospital for scalp cuts received in the accident at 8 p.m.

County's Airport Is Closed By Fog

Fog closed the Marin County Airport north of Novato again today but other air fields in the area remained operative.

Low ceiling and poor visibility was reported at Hamilton Air Force Base and at Comodore Seaplane Base in Sausalito. San Francisco International Airport reported take-offs and landings were on instruments because of poor visibility, but without disruption of schedules.

DEPOT

ernment already owns the 28-acre site.

Assemblyman Charles W. Meyers (D-San Francisco) who heads an Assembly subcommittee on water pollution control, said: "You have very fine facilities here. There are also other areas which deserve consideration.

R. W. Hart, regional engineer of the U.S. Public Health Service in San Francisco, said two-thirds of California's waste products go into marine environment. Their effect on the water and marine life would be studied by the proposed research center. It would be one of seven such centers in the United States. Ada, Okla., and Corvallis, Ore., have already been selected for other western centers.

Assemblymen making the tour, besides Meyers, were William S. Grant (R-Long Beach) and William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael). Bagley is not a member of the subcommittee.

Testifying before the committee at a San Francisco hearing yesterday, Paul R. Bonderson, executive officer of the state water pollution control board, expressed doubt a federal center will be located anywhere in Northern California.

The party planned to make the visit to Tiburon today by helicopter, but fog prevented the copters' takeoff from Crissy Field at the Presidio of San Francisco, so they crossed the Golden Gate Bridge by bus.

50 Christmas Lights Stolen

About 50 assorted Christmas lights were stolen from the front of the Santa Venetia Supply Store last night, owner Robert M. Tanem reported this morning.

A large spot light was stolen along with the string of colored lights.

Mrs. Maurice E. Sisco of 705 Vendola Drive reported yesterday that two small lights and one 200-watt yellow sealed beam are missing from her front yard.

NUTTY WAY TO FIND YOURSELF A $5 BILL

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Mrs. Henry Dayberry was shelling English walnuts for her grandchildren at her home in suburban Grandview Christmas Day when she cracked a nut that didn't seem to be good.

She dropped it in the pan of hulls and reached for another.

Carmen Jones, 5, picked up the discarded nut and exclaimed: "Looky here, granny. What's this?"

Mrs. Dayberry, 51, pried out of the nutshell a tightly-folded wad of paper. It was a $5 bill. She said she had no idea who might have put the money in the nut. It came from a bag she bought at a grocery store.

Airlines To Increase Fares By 3 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board today authorized the nation's airlines to increase their trunk line fares by 3 per cent on a temporary basis.

If the lines adopt the full increase, passengers will pay an additional 54 million dollars a year in fares, the CAB estimated.

Airlines could put the higher fares into effect 30 days after notifying the board. However, any increases would expire after six months.

A number of major airlines have been seeking fare increases. The CAB said it was permitting a temporary increase even though it does not "believe that fare inadequacies are the heart of the economic problems facing the airlines."

Two of the five members dissented from the action permitting a general fare increase. They were Vice Chairman Robert T. Murphy and member G. Joseph Minetti.

Murphy and Minetti said higher fares might discourage the airlines from attacking what they considered more basic problems involved in their economic situation.

Marinwood Home Decor Winners Told

A Marinwood home decorated with large lighted photographs of its residents captured the prize for the most original idea in Christmas home decoration in the annual contest sponsored by the Marinwood Assn.

Secretary Ernest Stewart said yesterday that the majority of ballots cast by residents were for the unusual decor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mathis at 267 Elvia Court. The Mathis decoration included large cardboard cut-outs of candles mounted with photographs of the Mathis family and surrounded by lights.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Jacob of 463 Blackstone Drive won the prize for the most beautiful decorated home in Marinwood.

The Glenwood Homeowners Assn. awarded two prizes in its Christmas decoration contest. The award for the best outdoor decoration went to Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Phillips of 220 Knight Drive. Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. O'Leary of 39 Rollingwood Drive were designated winners of the front entrance decoration category.

TRANSIT

this be reconsidered. This will be discussed at a public hearing Jan. 18, Womack asked that all interested citizens attend.

Mayor Ehrlich said planning, land use and zoning were chief challenges facing Sausalito.

Ehrlich said the city had to try to reconcile the viewpoints of commercial interests catering to tourists, developers, and residents wanting to keep Sausalito "a quiet little town."

He said development of the 140 acres of "largely undeveloped chaos" of Marinship was one of the large tasks ahead. Signs are a serious problem and the city hopes to have a sign ordinance in the coming year, Ehrlich said.

In answer to a listener question, Ehrlich, Huber, Little and McInnis expressed opposition to a City and County of Marin. Womack said he would consider it "when and if the people" asked for it.

11 Windows Smashed At McPhail School

Eleven windows were smashed at McPhail School on Vendola Drive in Santa Venetia last night or this morning, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Two other schools in Santa Venetia reported similar damage last week. Almost 40 windows were broken at Gallinas School and Santa Venetia Junior High School.

of finance, recommended reduction of work for the plant, with an eye toward its eventual elimination; and Hale Champion, who took Carr's place, said the plant was economically advantageous and should be continued.

7. The big disenchantment of agriculture with Governor Brown's order that relegated the department of agriculture as one section of a new Resources Agency. Brown's action in including the department in the agency, against the expressed wishes of the legislature, aligned almost every agricultural organization against the governor.

8. Civil defense and fallout shelters. Brown ordered the California national guard to take over operational responsibility for civil defense in event of an attack.

9. The recession in California. A pump-priming plan included increased unemployment benefits, a 30-million-dollar loan for school construction, and acceleration of state building programs.

10. Disclosure that the Brown administration probably would support some one billion dollars in bonds in order to come up with a balanced budget in 1962-63.

Secret Meeting Slated At School

Lagunitas School District trustees will sit in executive session as part of their regular meeting beginning at 8 p.m. today at the Lagunitas School.

It was assumed that the closed session was being called to discuss the contract of Supt. Clifford L. Frye. By law, school trustees must consider contracts of superintendents before Dec. 31 preceding expiration.

The board will also hold a preliminary discussion of the district budget for 1962-63.

OBITUARIES

Bertram B. Brown Succumbs

Bertram B. Brown, owner of Marin Cleaners, Inc., died today of a heart attack.

Brown, 59, suffered the attack at his home at 80 Cushing Way, San Rafael. He was pronounced dead on arrival at San Rafael General Hospital. He had been under doctor's care for a heart condition for several years.

A native of Denver, Brown had lived for 10 years in San Rafael. In 1951, he bought Marin Cleaners, Inc., with stores in San Rafael, Mill Valley and Fairfax.

He was a member of the California Dry Cleaners Assn.

He is survived by his wife, Lucille L.; two stepsons, Robert Casassa of San Rafael and Ronald Casassa of San Francisco, and two brothers, George S. Brown of San Francisco and Waldo Brown of San Diego.

Private funeral services will be held at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, on Saturday. Interment will be private.

LAWRENCE HENDRIX

Funeral services for Lawrence R. Hendrix, former county and Mill Valley firemen, who died Tuesday at a San Francisco hospital, will be held at Russell and Gooch Mortuary in Mill Valley at 2 p.m. tomorrow. Interment will be private.

Hendrix was a volunteer fireman in Mill Valley from 1931 to 1934, when he became a regular fireman and remained with the department until 1939. He was captain in 1937-39. After several years in Arizona, he returned to Marin and was a county fireman from 1952 to 1959. For the past two years he had been maintenance supervisor for the California School of Fine Arts in San Francisco.

Hendrix resided in Mill Valley at 61 Linden Lane. Incorrectly informed, the Independent-Journal reported yesterday that Hendrix lived at a different address.

PHILIP BECKLUND

Philip Becklund, 66, chief probation officer of Sonoma County for 24 years, died yesterday in a Santa Rosa hospital after a long illness.

He was the father of Robert Becklund of Novato.

A native of Illinois, Becklund spent most of his life in Sonoma County. He headed the agriculture department at Santa Rosa High School for 11 years until his 1937 appointment as chief probation officer. He was a veteran of World War I.

He is survived by his wife, Emily; his son, Robert; a daughter, Emily Ann Becklund of San Jose; a sister, Esther Becklund of Arizona; two brothers, Luther and Eugene Becklund of Minnesota, and three grandchildren.

A Requiem Mass will be celebrated tomorrow at 6:45 a.m. at St. Rose's Church, Santa Rosa. Military graveside services will be held at 9:30 a.m. at the Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno. The rosary will be recited at 8 o'clock tonight at 8 p.m. at the Eggen and Lance Mortuary, Santa Rosa.

HILLIET FUSELIER

Funeral services for Marin City resident Hilliet Fuselier will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday at the First Missionary Baptist Church, Marin City.

Fuselier, 38, an unemployed laborer, died of a heart attack Friday at a local hospital.

A native of Louisiana, Fuselier had resided for 16 years in Marin City. His home was apartment C13, building 104.

He is survived by two sons, Hilliet Jr. and Michael Fuselier, and one daughter, Billie Joy Fuselier, all of Marin City; a sister, Mrs. Laura Bell of Marin City, and his father, Clarence Fuselier of New Iberia, La.

Interment will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael, directed by Jackson's Funeral Home, Oakland.

THEO REUTER

Funeral rites will be held in Santa Ana tomorrow for Theo Reuter, 72, father of Mrs. Jack Craemer of Greenbrae.

Reuter died unexpectedly Tuesday. He had been in declining health for several years.

A retired orange grower, he was a native of Santa Ana, son of a pioneer Orange County couple. At the time of his death he was a resident of Orange.

He leaves a widow, Dorothy, in addition to his daughter, Jean, and three grandchildren, Tad, Jeff and Jan Craemer.

Hub May Change Tax Collection

The San Anselmo City Council last night asked the city administrator to see how much it would cost to have the county collect taxes for the Hub city.

In other cities in the county now have the county collect city taxes. Mayor Carleton G. Little noted that San Anselmo would have to act soon if the county is to take over next fiscal year.

Councilman William Franchini said he is not in favor; councilman Arthur W. Smith said he is.

Councilmen asked Administrator Douglas Flautt to find out how much the county would charge.

In other actions last night, the councilmen:

1. Ordered demolition of a dilapidated building at 761 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, owned by Angelo Camicca.
2. Received six bids for a one-ton pickup truck for the fire department. DeLong Chevrolet submitted the low bid of $2,244.16. The high bid was $2,482.30. The administrator will confer with the fire chief and city engineer and present a recommendation Jan. 9.
3. Asked the city attorney to draw up a tree ordinance by Jan. 9.
4. Ordered a no-parking zone at the intersection of Essex Avenue and Redhill Avenue because Essex is a narrow street.
5. Tabled a request by the City of Sunnyvale to oppose a tax increase for the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.
6. Bought an $80 pickup truck from government surplus for the use of the city mechanic.
7. Postponed approval of an eight-lot subdivision for Richard White at 349 Redwood Road. The lots do not meet the lot-slope policy.
8. Approved a tentative map for a two-lot subdivision for Erna Falk at 17 Arroyo Avenue.
9. Turned down planning commission request that downtown street trees be planted in the ground instead of in pots.
10. Approved spending $250 to install a heater at the city corporation yard.

Nightmare, Or A Chase?

Novato police today sought to determine whether a 14-year-old boy was chased by a man last night, or whether it was a nightmare.

Joseph P. Laufer of 1464 Pastel Lane was awakened about 11:15 p.m. by the sound of breaking glass. He found Michael John Dorsey, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Dorsey of 1395 Joyce Street in his kitchen.

Laufer told police the boy was cut on his back, and was wearing only pajamas.

Michael told officers he was awakened by a noise and raised the shade on his window. There he saw a man, more than six feet tall with uncombed hair, wearing a dark jacket.

Michael, scared, ran outside, screaming. The man chased him, Michael said, grabbed him and scratched him.

He said he ran to the Laufer home, about a quarter mile away, for help. Unable to open a door, he broke the glass in the kitchen door with a milk bottle.

At Novato hospital, two cuts on Michael's back were stitched and smaller cuts treated.

Police found no tracks around the Dorsey home indicating a prowler. They wondered whether the boy had a very realistic nightmare.

She's 104, But Days Don't Drift

CHETICAMP, N. C. (AP)—Mrs. Dan Arsenault may be 104 but she is not one to let the days just drift by.

After a nine-hour sleep she is up at 6 a. m., ready for a full day of knitting. She currently is working on a bedspread.

The thrice-married widow says she never takes a pill or a drop of medicine and has never owned a pair of eyeglasses. Mrs. Arsenault, who lives with a son and his wife, adds that she enjoys a good appetite.

Weissich Will Work For Shell

Former Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich of San Rafael has been named Marin County manager for Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell of Los Angeles in his campaign for the Republican nomination for governor.

Shell said he and Weissich "both stand for retention of the death penalty as a crime deterrent" and that they "also believe California should cease to become a welfare state through operations of the Brown-Unruh political machine."

Weissich declared today that he was "satisfied Assemblyman Shell will win the Republican nomination for governor and go on to beat Pat Brown."

"I call upon all voters who believe in good government," Weissich added, "to join us in this crusade. It is later than many may think."

Baptist Seminary Gets Accreditation

An associate member of the association since 1954, the seminary is also an associate member of the American Assn. of Schools of Religious Education.

SALESMAN DAZED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

A San Rafael salesman sitting quietly in his halted car found himself suddenly catapulted into a head-on collision yesterday.

William Willard Sinclair of 520 Canal Street was dazed and severely shaken up but did not require hospitalization.

Sinclair was southbound on East Francisco Boulevard at 4:30 p.m. and had halted preparatory to a left turn into Harbor Street. Coming from behind, a car driven by Robert J. Straight of 6 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, rammed his vehicle and shot it into the front of a northbound car driven by Fred N. Damato of 45 Geary Avenue, Fairfax.

San Rafael police found that the accident happened just 10 feet south of the city boundary so they summoned California Highway Patrolman James Dukes, who cited Straight on three charges: driving under the influence of liquor, failing to have an operator's license, and unsafe speed.

Stinson-Bolinas Schools Hold Meeting On Addition

Bolinas-Stinson School District trustees discussed last night ways to finance the addition of restrooms at Bolinas School but put decision over to Jan. 10.

The problem, clerk Arthur E. Carpenter said, is how to raise additional money since the lowest bid of $19,520 by L. E. Weisenburg Jr. of San Rafael is $2,270 over the state allotment for restrooms. Reserve funds or a bond issue could make up the difference, said Carpenter.

Also on the agenda for next meeting, Carpenter said, is preliminary discussion of a possible unified school district in western Marin.

Legend has it that the sages of India rested in the shade of the banana tree. The botanical name of the common banana, musa sapientum, means "fruit of the wise men."

$350-Theft Told In Mill Valley

A thief slipped into a home in Mill Valley and took off with $350 in loot sometime Tuesday, the owners reported to sheriff's deputies.

Mr. and Mrs. Samie H. Owen of 99 Rancho Drive said they were away all day and returned at 5:30 p.m. to find their home looted. They had left the doors open so their dogs could get out.

Stolen were a camera, sport coat, man's wrist watch, razor, a .32 caliber German Mauser automatic pistol, and several other items, all from the front bedroom.

Hub Seeking Sleepy Hollow Fire Meeting

San Anselmo City council will seek a Jan. 17 meeting with Sleepy Hollow Fire District commissioners to clarify the policy on sharing of cost of fire protection — particularly the cost of the new firehouse completed this year on Butterfield Road.

The councilmen last night asked City Administrator Douglas Flautt to write to Sleepy Hollow Fire District, inviting district officials to meet with the council at 8 p.m. on Jan. 17 at the city hall. The date is only tentative.

Administrator Flautt said misunderstanding has arisen over the sharing of cost of the new firehouse.

"It was their understanding that they do not have to pay for the cost of the firehouse," said Flautt. "I think our contract says the only cost they do not share is for fire hydrants within the city."

City fathers indicated that under the agreement, the city can stop serving Sleepy Hollow if it cannot come to an agreement with the fire district.

San Anselmo gives fire protection to Sleepy Hollow, which pays the city for the services. The amount of payment is based on the amount of the fire department budget and the assessed valuations in San Anselmo and in Sleepy Hollow.

In 1924 the Declaration of Independence went on public display in the Library of Congress.

San Anselmo To Name Recreation Committee

San Anselmo will appoint a seven-member citizen committee to study all parks and recreation facilities in the city at the Jan. 9 meeting, Mayor Carleton G. Little announced last night.

He asked each councilman to be thinking of persons who might be suitable for the committee and to submit the names Jan. 9.

Administrator Douglas Flautt reported that San Anselmo undoubtedly has some duplication of services in recreation, and a coordination of parks and recreation facilities would improve service.

The councilmen voted unanimously to adopt a resolution setting up the citizen advisory committee. Councilman Robert E. Rouse was absent with a cold.

Councilman William Franchini said the committee must be a good cross section of the community. It would do no good if the committee were composed of only those interested in Little League, for example, Franchini said.

Hub City Councilmen Agree To Look At Employees' Pay

San Anselmo city councilmen agreed last night to take another look at city employees' salaries next month.

City Administrator Douglas Flautt said the city employees had asked for a salary review in January because they feel the pay is far below that of other comparable cities.

Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani reported a survey shows San Anselmo police officers are the lowest paid among all cities in the county. Chief Buchignani said he has already lost one officer and may lose two more because of low pay.

Councilmen made no promises but asked the city administrator to make a salary survey and report on Jan. 23.

EFFECTIVE JANUARY 1, 1962:

California Pacific Title Company merges with Title Insurance and Trust Company to bring you

STATE-WIDE TITLE SERVICE UNDER ONE NAME

For many years, California Pacific Title Company, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Title Insurance and Trust Company, has worked with T.I. in Marin County to help make land a safer investment. Now, these long-time associates merge to bring you the advantages of fast, dependable state-wide title service.

Under this new arrangement, California Pacific Title Company (which has heretofore operated as a subsidiary) becomes a Title Insurance and Trust Company office. This means that now you can get title searches that start faster and close sooner in any California county served by T.I. simply by phoning this office. The title expert there will handle the whole transaction for you.*

In addition, you get a fuller range of title services...services made faster and more dependable by the combined strengths and facilities of the merging companies. These facilities now include California's most complete title plants and America's largest staff of title specialists. And, as always, you'll receive the same personal attention you've come to expect from California Pacific Title Company.

We appreciate the opportunity of having served you in the past, and we hope that in the future, when you sell or buy, you'll continue to specify T.I.

MONTY AND HIS MACHETE

Hub Still Neutral On Tunnel

San Rafael last night sent its city manager to woo San Anselmo for support in trying to have Northwestern Pacific reopen its railroad tunnel at Puerto Suelio Hill, but Hub City councilmen decided to remain neutral until more information is available.

San Rafael City Manager Dan E. Andersen said all Marin County stands to lose if the railroad is abandoned because "we would then be at the mercy of trucking interests."

He said the cost aggregates is now 96 cents more per yard than when they arrived by mail.

Andesen said he did not want to present all his facts and figures before the San Anselmo Council because NWP officials were present at the meeting. The city of San Rafael was not represented when railroad officials gave the council their case two weeks earlier.

Andersen said he would be glad to meet with San Anselmo councilmen informally to give them more information.

Lewis E. Renner, special representative for NWP, declared every effort is being made to lower the rates on aggregates, and that the cost of all other building materials remains the same as before the tunnel collapse of last July. "Being heavy taxpayers in the county, we ask that you remain neutral," said Renner.

The NWP official said he, too, would be glad to talk with San Anselmo councilmen informally.

San Anselmo councilmen decided they would like to talk to San Rafael city officials informally before any decision.

World production of petroleum in 1959, latest available figure, was 7.1 billion barrels of 42 gallons.

Hub Mayor Election Subject To City Vote

The post of San Anselmo mayor can be made elective if a majority of voters so indicate in a citywide election, City Atty. John C. Buresh reported last night.

In the same way, all city offices other than city council can be made appointive through a similar citywide election, Buresh said.

The city attorney made these announcements in answer to questions posed two weeks before by Councilman Robert E. Rouse, who said he thinks the mayor should be elected directly by the people instead of being chosen by the five councilmen. Rouse said he would also like to see the city treasurer appointed instead of elected.

Since Councilman Rouse was absent last night with a cold, city fathers decided to table the matter until Rouse returns.

Mayor Carleton G. Little defended the present system of rotating mayors. "I think the present system of rotation is one of the most progressive things we have ever done," said Little. "Electing a mayor might result in the election of someone with a big name and might serve to hamstring the efforts of other councilmen."

Crippled Society Is Congratulated

The Marin County Society for Crippled Children and Adults has been cited by the state organization for expansion of its services to the physically handicapped, it was announced today by Frank J. Keaton, local society president.

In a letter from Esther Elder Smith, executive director of the California Society for Crippled Children and Adults, the Marin group was congratulated "on the increase in the number of handicapped persons served and on the grand success achieved by the 1961 Easter Seal campaign."

Statewide, the society assisted 23,189 handicapped persons through medical, recreation, employment and social service programs, Mrs. Smith's letter stated.

Strep Infections Lead Disease List

Streptococcic infections led communicable diseases reported in Marin County during the week ending last Saturday, with 18 cases reported to the Marin County Health Department.

Reported cases of measles totaled nine. There were three reported cases of syphilis, and two each of mumps and gonorrhea.

San Francisco Unveils 'First' Device For Detecting Of Smog

However, On Nov. 1 Marin's Was Operating

San Franciscans, aided and abetted by Bay Area Air Pollution Control District officials, yesterday with pomp and ceremony unveiled "the first continuous air monitoring station in the six-county air pollution control district."

On hand to assist as one of those "throwing the switch" to start the smog sniffer in operation was San Rafael's Vice-Mayor Charles W. Aby, a member of the smog district board.

But right in Aby's home town, atop the Marin County Communication Center at 519 Fourth Street, a continuous monitoring station has been sniffing the atmosphere since Nov. 1 It went to work without fanfare or bombast. It was pictured in operation on Page 1 of the Independent-Journal the following day.

MORE GADGETS

County Communications Director Mansfield Lewis conceded that maybe the San Francisco device has a few more gadgets than what's on his building.

"And over there they'll need more," he commented. "With that thing located on the Stockton Street side of Union Square Garage, they certainly are going to register 57 kinds of smells, not to mention pigeons too."

Whereas Marin recording mixes ozone with the local air to get a "smellocycle" count, with continuous recording, in San Francisco they plan to check up on sulfur dioxide, nitric acid, nitrogen dioxide, carbon monoxide, hydrocarbons and oxidants.

Lewis says this is perhaps a little fancier than is possible or necessary here, but the "ozone meter" in San Rafael is delivering nicely for Marin's purer conditions.

CONTAMINATION

"Very little contamination can be found here," said Lewis, "and only on one warm day during the past two months of operation did we get a reading strong enough to show real irritation.

"Our instrument is proving highly sensitive. Even the burning of leaves or bonfires will register. Once in a while there's a good Friday afternoon traffic jam and that shoots the reading right up."

Supervisor Chairman William D. Fusselman said he guessed he was responsible for letting the San Francisco sniffer steal the spotlight.

"I am personally guilty of not putting on enough horn-blowing over such events as the start of continuous air monitoring here," said Fusselman.

"We in Marin are used to just buckling down and getting a job done quietly. Sometimes I think it's a mistake."

EVER WISH YOU HAD $1 MILLION —HERE'S CHANCE TO GET A LOOK

SAN JOSE (AP)—Getting your hands on a million dollars is difficult.

John H. Martin, president of Guaranty Savings and Loan Assn., thought it would be nice to have a million dollars on display for opening-week ceremonies Jan. 2-10 at a new branch near here.

Fred Oehler, area manager for Wells Forga American Trust Co., told Martin he'd be glad to lend him the million, until he realized Martin wanted it in cash.

They finally worked it out. Wells Fargo will get the money from the Federal Reserve Bank in San Francisco, count it, turn it over to an armored car firm, which will count it and bring it to Martin's new office.

The million will be placed under a plastic covering and will be guarded around the clock. Lloyd's of London has underwritten insurance on the million.

528 Billion Cigarettes Go Up In Smoke In U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Americans smoked more this year than ever before, the Agriculture Department said today.

However, the department estimated that less snuff was dipped in 1961 than in 1960, and about the same amount of tobacco was chewed this year as last.

The department estimated U.S. cigarette output and consumption this year at a record 528 billion cigarettes, 4 per cent more than last year.

Smokers paid more than 6.9 billion dollars for their cigarettes in 1961, about 3.1 billion of which went into federal, state and local excise taxes.

It was the fifth consecutive increase in cigarette consumption, and the department said it expected another increase next year.

Cigar consumption was the highest since 1923. The estimated consumption of cigars, including cigarillos, was more than 7.1 billion, nearly 1.5 per cent more than last year. More gains were expected next year.

Consumption of pipe tobacco also rose a little in 1961.

The department said that the use of pipe tobacco and snuff would probably hold steady through 1962, with the use of chewing tobacco declining.

Of the record cigarette output, 488.5 billion were for domestic consumption; armed forces overseas got 14.5 billion, Puerto Rico and U.S. territories and possessions got 2.7 billion and 22.3 billion were exported.

The department said exports of unmanufactured tobacco in 1961 probably approached the 496 million pounds of 1960, which exceeded the preceding 10-year average by almost 2 per cent.

Town Pool Held To Be Exclusive

A town swimming pool in Corte Madera could be for exclusive use of the town's residents, the Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission was told last night.

Commissioner Bruce Goecker reported to the other members on a case (McClain vs. the City of South Pasadena) which had already been decided by the courts. The decision was that recreational facilities provided by the town may be reserved for the exclusive use of the town's residents.

Town Atty. Sherrod S. Davis said last month at a town council meeting that it would be illegal to restrict a town pool for use of only the town residents. He said a higher charge could be demanded of the out-of-town residents who use the facilities.

Goecker said this is not so.

The park and recreation commission is circulating petitions asking that a $165,000 swimming pool bond issue to be placed on the ballot in the April 10 municipal election. At least 15 per cent of the town's registered voters must sign the petition to qualify the proposal for the ballot.

Commission Chairman Donald A. Jensen reported today "well over half of the needed signatures have been obtained." At the last official count, Nov. 8, 1960, Corte Madera had 3,292 registered voters.

Deadline for the petition is set at Jan. 10 to allow Town Clerk Naydeen Penney to validate the signatures.

The commission decided last night to start a guest book for signatures of persons who tour the town nursery next to the town hall.

Mason Feudner, who replaced Jon D. Joslyn on the commission, attended his first meeting.

Novato School Board Changing Meetings

Starting next Tuesday, the Novato Unified School District board will meet on the first and third Tuesdays of each month instead of the second and fourth.

The board voted to change the meeting dates to avoid conflict with the Novato City Council, which meets on the second and fourth Tuesdays.

3 Appelate Department Judges Named

Judges Richard M. Sims Jr., Thomas F. Keating, and N. Charles Brusatori have been designated as judges of the appellate department of Marin Superior Court for 1962.

The announcement came today from Chief Justice Phil S. Gibson, chairman of the state Judicial Council.

The three judges sit as a three-judge appellate court in addition to fulfilling their regular duties as superior court judges. The appellate department hears all appeals brought from municipal and justice courts.

Judge Sims, presiding judge of Marin Superior Court, also presides over the appellate department.

Mary Strathairn Files Cruelty Suit

Mrs. Mary Frances Strathairn of Larkspur filed a separate maintenance suit today in Contra Costa Superior Court against Dr. Thomas Scott Strathairn, charging cruelty.

The suit alleges that he makes $3,000 per month. They were married in Astoria, Ore., in 1945 and separated Nov. 7 this year, according to the suit.

They have three children. She lists the family home as 405 Elm Avenue, Larkspur.

Appeals Board Approves Plan For Apartment

Rosolia Apartments, proposed for construction at the edge of Racoon Strait in Tiburon, will be permitted to rise five stories instead of the three-story limitation for wood frame structures.

This ruling came last night from the Marin County Board of Appeals, which met in the county courthouse to hear the appeal of Orazio G. Rosolia of San Francisco. He plans to build his apartments on Paradise Drive next to the Old Stone Tower.

The proposed building would have three stories of apartment, with a sun deck as the fourth floor and a covered carport as the fifth. The board of appeals approved the building on grounds that it will be against a cliff with direct vehicle access to the fifth story carport.

The board of appeals decided that ingress and egress from this building would be the same as or better than a three-story structure on level ground.

When several drab wooden phone booths in a New York ferry terminal were replaced with new models of aluminum and glass, phone company revenue at the site doubled.

Toughest Hoodlums Of San Quentin Are Being Transferred Out Today

A dozen of San Quentin's toughest young hoodlums were being moved out of the prison today.

Eleven more will be shipped to other prisons tomorrow.

The unusual transfer of the prisoners, most of them under 21 years of age, was part of the prison administration's counterattack against convict "rat packs" blamed for an outbreak of violence inside the walls which left four prisoners dead within 12 days.

Warden Fred R. Dickson left today for Kern County where state penal officials were to inspect an abandoned air base at Mojave as a possible facility to relieve San Quentin's bulging population.

Associate Warden Dale B. Frady said seven of the prisoners being moved today would be sent to the Deuel Vocational Institute at Tracy. Five of the "potential trouble makers" were being moved to Soledad.

Seven of tomorrow's load of transferees were to be taken to the California Medical Facility at Vacaville and four others, over 21 years of age, to be placed behind bars at Folsom Prison.

The 23 men moved today and tomorrow would wind up transfers for this week, Frady said, but another group is scheduled to go out of the overcrowded prison next week. All are among 99 who have been isolated from the prison population for the past week in an effort to relieve the unrest which followed the wave of stabbings.

With Dickson at Mojave today were Richard A. McGee, director of the Youth and Corrections Agency, and Corrections Director Walter Dunbar.

After the inspection, McGee and the others were to talk with Kern County supervisors and area legislators to determine if the base could be turned over to the state.

Now used as a county airport, it has abandoned barracks that could house more than 1,000 persons. The officials want to find out if the barracks can be converted into a prison for some of the less dangerous inmates from San Quentin, presently 2,100 men over capacity.

That would permit guards to keep a closer watch on dangerous prisoners at San Quentin.

A spokesman for the corrections department said money for a supplementary prison could be obtained from existing funds or from an emergency appropriation by the 1962 legislature.

Aide To Deposed Dictator Peron Says He Is Married

MADRID (UPI)—Former Argentine dictator Juan D. Peron has been married for "some time" to his former secretary, an aide said today.

The aide said he had talked to Peron earlier in the day and the former Argentine president admitted that Isabel Martinez is now his wife.

She came to Spain with Peron nearly two years ago as his secretary.

The exiled Peron is 65, She is 28.

Peron's first wife, Eva, died in 1953, while he still was Argentine president. His new wife was said to have met Peron in Panama shortly after the 1955 revolt that toppled him from power in Argentina.

Telescope Optician Dies In Pasadena

PASADENA (AP)—Don O. Hendrix, described by Cal Tech astronomers as one of the world's greatest telescope opticians, is dead at 56.

He died of an internal hemorrhage Tuesday, the family said yesterday. Hendrix had been superintendent of the optical department of Mt. Wilson and Palomar observatories for 15 years.

Mine Union Called Under Red Control

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A subversive activities control board examiner has recommended that the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers be declared "a Communist-infiltrated organization"—ineligible to bargain for any employees.

The next step is for the five-member board to consider the recommendation. The board will hear oral arguments before issuing a final order, which in turn can be appealed to the courts.

The examiner's recommendation was announced today by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. He said the action against the union, which has headquarters in Denver, began on July 28, 1955.

A member of the board, Francis A. Cherry, sat as an examiner in the case. He said the record convinced him that the union "is substantially directed, dominated or controlled by individuals who are (or have been) actively engaged in giving support to the Communist Party of the United States."

The union was expelled several weeks ago by the AFL-CIO.

MARIN BUSINESS And INDUSTRY

(A Thrice-Weekly Column)

By HARRY CRAFT

Some 1961 Trends In Business —And What They Mean In Future

Business patterns don't change abruptly when the horns bdow at midnight on New Year's Eve. The routine of 1961 will probably be duplicated next Tuesday and for awhile thereafter. Only the monthly and quarterly surveys to come will indicate if 1962 is to show greater profits, other trends, more or less headaches.

A cross section of what's been happening this year and how it may extend over the next few months comes from the mouths of some of our local businessmen:

BANKING. Leroy Rudolph, manager, Bank of America, San Rafael: "I see no particular changes in the trend for us from what it has been in 1961. The flow of money, Marin's continuing increase in population — these things are good for the banking business and naturally mean more deposits."

TELEVISION. George A. Klein with stores in San Rafael, San Anselmo and Sausalito: "Color TV is the coming thing. Our sales of it doubled in 1961 and we expect it to go up as much again next year. It now takes less effort to sell it. Otherwise—19-inch portables are the lead sellers. Business has increased so much we've put a new man in charge of our San Anselmo store — Grant Thompson of Novato, who, by the way, was formerly a color engineer with Admiral."

PERSONAL LOANS. Roy Michaels of Royce Finance Plan, San Rafael: "We look for a banner year in 1962—the same as 1961 which exceeded our expectations and we have in mind expanding. With more auto sales, consumer goods and conditional sales contracts we are bound to be affected. We are also finding more activity in commercial loans—from $5,000 to $15,000."

SAND AND GRAVEL. Rex T. Silvernale, vice president, Hutchinson Co. Quarry, Greenbrae: "With the anticipated constructon next year we expect to increase our business 10 per cent. However, since the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tunnel went out of commission we've had a 5 per cent increase in transportation cost, trucking sand and gravel from the Russian River. We have not been passing this along in our prices to the consumer but are absorbing it."

STOCK MARKET: Edgar T. Lindner, manager, Henry F. Swift and Co., San Rafael: "I am optimistic for 1962, of course, but the selection of stocks, then as now, should be made on the same basis as the purchase of a business. Earnings are the prime consideration, and a return on the money invested. Too many companies are bought far into the future. Although their growth is good, earnings have never shown what I consider a liveable income.

"In missile and space age stocks with both growth and income I would select McDonell Aircraft and Martin Co. Utilities: Pacific Lighting and Southern California Edson. Also, Colgate-Palmolve-Peet and Pacific Gas Transmission as two additional growth situations."

Hydrofoil craft, used on the Volga River in the Soviet Union since 1954, carry 150 passengers at 60 miles an hour.

NAMED TO TOP POST — Moving up from institutional sales and distribution, Roland Hauck of Sleepy Hollow has been appointed director of all sales for the Vacu-dry Co., Emeryville, producers of dehydrated fruits and vegetables. He joined the firm in 1954.

The original habitat of the potato is believed to have been either Peru or Chile.

Prize-Winning Author To Lecture At College

Prize-winning author and journalist Milton Mayer will speak on "An American in Czechoslovakia" at 8 p.m. Jan. 4 in Olney Hall on the Kentfield campus, as the third presentation in the College of Marin 1961-62 concert and lecture series.

Free tickets for the lecture may be obtained at the College of Marin bookstore between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m., Jan. 2, 3 and 4. Admission will be restricted to ticket holders until 7:45 p.m.

Mayer is a frequent contributor to the Saturday Evening Post, Harper's, and the Yale Law Review. He is winner of the George Polk Memorial Award and the Benjamin Franklin Magazine Citation for his article, "The Case of Roger Touhy," in the Reporter of November, 1955. Most recent Mayer article is "Peace Talks in Prague," which appeared in the Christian Century for August, 1961.

He is a former member of the faculty of the University of Chicago and in the early 1950s was a visiting faculty member at the Institute for Social Research of Frankfurt University in Germany. He has been a lecturer for the American Friends Service Committee and a leader in organizing discussion groups for the Great Books Foundation. He recently returned from a year's residence in Czechoslovakia and now lives with his family in Carmel.

During the last five years in Ohio, 213 persons have been killed and more than 7,000 injured while operating or riding on farm tractors.

Blood Center Asks Donations

An appeal for blood donors for a San Rafael business executive who is critically ill in Los Angeles has been issued by the Marin County Blood Center.

Frank Albrecht, 40, of 270 Arias Street was on a business trip to Los Angeles last week when he was stricken with a bleeding ulcer. To date, he has had 70 transfusions at Queen of Angels Hospital. Albrecht is sales manager for Remington-Rand Corp. in San Francisco.

Mrs. Claudia Bessing of the Marin County Blood Center said the center will be open next Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. to accept blood donations for Albrecht. Persons wishing to make donations but unable to do so on Tuesday may call the center for an alternate appointment. The center is located at 506 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Question Of Tarzan, Jane Marital Status Gets Books Pulled Off Shelf

TARZANA (UPI) — Publishers of the Tarzan books rose up in arms today against critics who tried to besmirch the fair name of the apeman's mate, Jane.

Cause for the indignation was a report from Downey, stating that an elementary school banned the Tarzan books and the western stories of Zane Grey from its library.

It was intimated in hushed tones that Tarzan and his mate had an offspring without benefit of wedlock and therefore the books, "Tarzan of the Apes," and "The Return of Tarzan" might have a bad effect on young minds. In connection with the Zane Grey books, it was said said that some of his characters used language a little stronger than "shucks" or "gee whiz."

Tarzan's main defender was Ralph Rothmund, general manager of Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc., the firm established by the late author of the Tarzan books which gave the name to this Los Angeles suburb.

Said Rothmund in high dudgeon, "They were married! They were married! Anyone who has read the books at all closely should know they were married!

"Jane and Tarzan took the marriage vows in the jungle with her father present. The father may not have been an ordained minister but after all things were pretty primitive in those days in the jungle. It is common practice in some primitive areas for betrothed couples to take their vows of marriage without the presence of an ordained clergyman. You'll find that most churches recognize such marriages."

In Downey, school board member Ryan said he was told the books were removed from a school library because some parents thought Grey's books "contained obscene words and that there was no indication that Tarzan and his mate were ever married."

Albania, a center of controversy in the Communist bloc, has a population of 1,581,000 living in an area a little larger than Maryland. According to legend, Albanians are descended from an eagle. Hence the Albanian flag shows a two-headed eagle on a solid red field.

Marin Tars Smash Reedley In Holiday Cage Tourney

Tars Tackle Santa Ana In Semi-Final Tonight

Their fast-break working to perfection, College of Marin's Tars opened the Alan Hancock Holiday J. C. Basketball Tournament at Santa Maria with a bang last night by smashing Reedley College 85-57.

Tonight Coach Cal Riemcke sends his Tars against Santa Ana in the semi-finals at 7 o'clock. The other semi matches Foothill J. C. against Mt. San Antonio. Santa Ana trimmed Monterey 48-44, Mt. San Antonio walloped Oakland 59-44 and Foothill ripped Hancock 84-67 in yesterday's other first round games.

Riemcke described his high scoring ace Lynn Livie as "sensational" in last night's game. Livie pumped 25 markers through the mesh, although his performance was abbreviated as Riemcke substituted freely against the outclassed Reedley quint.

OTHER SCORERS

Dave Neumann was the second half of Marin's one-two punch with 19 points to his credit. Other scorers were Randy Petrini and Ernie Bray with 9 each, Charley Bullock 7, Steve Bryant 6, Mike Kavanagh and Bob Melbern with 3 each and Jim Mitchell and Bill Wallace with 2 each.

Mitchell and Petrini were strong rebounders.

Marin hit on 45 per cent of its floor shots, but Riemcke said the starting five players made good on 52 per cent.

The Marin coach labeled Foothill J.C. as "the team to beat" in the tourney. Last night Foothill handed host Hancock only its second loss in its last 180 home games. "Any team that does that should be considered the team to beat," said Riemcke.

49ER DRAFTEE KEY PLAYER IN SUGAR BOWL

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Nimble-footed Lance Alworth of Arkansas will help the Razorbacks even the odds against Alabama's formidable defense when the two teams meet New Year's Day in the Sugar Bowl.

Alworth, a native of Houston, Tex., and a draft choice of the San Francisco 49ers, was the big gun in Arkansas' attack this year. He's been timed in 9.6 seconds for the 100 yard dash and 21.4 for the 220.

The remarkable Alworth ran this year for 516 yards —an average of 4.69 per carry—and caught 18 passes for another 320 yards. He also punted 32 times for a 35.3 average and led the nation in punt returns with an average of 12 yards on 28 thrusts.

The Sugar Bowl is a sellout for the Alabama-Arkansas clash. The 83,000 tickets were gone the day ticket sales began.

Rookie Of The Year

DALLAS (AP) — Rookie of the Year in the American Football League, according to the coaches, is Earl Faison, the 256-pound defensive end of the San Diego Chargers.

Faison was given the honor Wednesday when he got five of the seven possible votes.

PREP BASKETBALL

San Rafael Cagers Beat Montgomery

Marin County Athletic League basketball squads picked up only one victory in three outings last night on the practice schedule.

San Rafael's Bulldogs came out on top with a 53-40 decision over Montgomery at Santa Rosa, but the Drake Pirates and Redwood Giants were losers in their games. Drake bowed to a star-studded alumni team 61-58 while Redwood lost to Lincoln High at San Francisco, 53-42.

San Rafael's sharp-shooting Rod Monti again led all scorers with a 20-point performance while Rich Robertson contributed 13 to the Bulldog total. Monti, Robertson and Jack Sovereign gave the Bulldogs an overwhelming margin in rebounding.

It was San Rafael's fourth win against three losses this season.

San Rafael also won the B game, 27-26 with John Franzman and Mike Menne each scoring nine points for the Bullpups.

COCKBURN STARS

Don Cockburn, the former great Drake star, showed he still has plenty of class on the hardwood as he led the Alumni All-Stars past the Drake varsity. Cockburn had 15 points and plenty of rebounds. Daryl Sattui hit 12 for the Alumni while John McBride with 16 and Brad Bisch with 14 were Drake leaders. John Wallace hit 10 for the preps.

The Alumni B team also won, 37-32 with Gary Jones scoring 14 of the victors' points. Galassi had 11 for the losers.

Lincoln's Mustangs, winners in 13 of their 14 games this season, led all the way over Redwood, which has played only seven games to date.

The Links also won the B tilt, 33-27.

UCLA OFFENSE A PROBLEM FOR GOPHERS

PASADENA (UPI) — Coach Murray Warmath put his Minnesota Gophers through another afternoon drill to get them ready for the New Year's Day Rose Bowl game against the UCLA Bruins.

Warmath admitted yesterday that he faced a problem in coping with the UCLA single wing system. He said it would take some work to adjust his defenses against the western team's attack.

While the second team went against the reserves employing the single wing, The first team went through a lengthy workout stressing its own offense with quarterback Sandy Stephens leading the varsity.

Gary Player Wins Friends Along With Money On Pro Golf Trial

HANLEY

A more popular foreigner couldn't have won the PGA's top 1961 cash awards than South Africa's Gary Player, an articulate and amiable pro who gets along with his fellow golfers as well as he doe swith golfing galleries and sports writers.

"I have come to learn," said Player on his first visit to America in 1957. "My ambition is to be one of the great golfers of the world like Bobby Locke and those other blokes."

Jim Gaquin, the PGA's tournament manager, says Player should have said "I have come to earn" because that is what he has been doing ever since.

Player, now 26, is a quietly confident but far from cocky competitor with a sense of humor and gracious consideration for his fellow pros. His engaging British accent gives added charm to an inborn courtesy that in no way diminishes his determination to win.

There isn't a pro on the golfing circuit who doesn't have a good word for Player. And the old pros who have watched him in the dollar derby during the past five years give him top ratings in course conduct and shot-making ability.

"I FIRST saw him in the 1956 British Open," says Gene Sarazen. "I didn't care much for his swing. I thought it too flat. But he had something only great athletes have. He's a stubborn fighter. He's probably the hardest worker on the tour since Ben Hogan in his prime."

It was Hogan who put more arc in Player's flat swing and Player gratefully acknowledges this.

"Mr. Hogan," says Player, "advised me to turn my left hand slightly to the right so the thumb would run up and down the shaft. The grip I had been using had caused my swing to be flat. I've been swinging much better since."

HOGAN DECLARES that Player "has been doing what I have long advocated—that is, working hard on fundamentals and then working the fundamentals into his game. I know how hard he has worked. No one phase of his game dominates. He is a fine, all-around player."

Other appraisals of Player:

Byron Nelson—"I'm greatly impressed by Gary's game. He's a hard worker, great concentrator, an excellent competitor."

Art Wall Jr.—"Gary's attitude is the big thing."

Mike Souchak—"Gary has a lot of heart, good knowledge of golf and is always trying to learn more about it."

Sam Snead—"He's a good, clean-living kid with lots of desire. His short game is his strong point and he's a good competitor."

PLAYER'S SHORT game was his strong point until this year when he beefed up his shots off the tee despite his smallish stature, 5-7½, 155 pounds.

"I'm driving about 25 yards farther than last year," says Player.

The greater distance stems from a bigger arc, better balance and more physical strength which he acquired through a dedicated daily routine of 70 fingertip pushups and knee bends. To stay in good health Players eats the usual foods but supplements his diet with nuts, wheat germ and dried fruit. He nibbles on the latter while golfing.

The $15,000 Player won last January in the Lucky International at San Francisco's Harding Park and the $20,000 he picked up in the Master's represented more than half of his top playing income of $68,377 this year. He will be back to defend his Lucky title Jan. 25-28.

Two Players Added To Pro Bowl Teams

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Washington Redskin Dick James and Minnesota Viking Jerry Reichow were added yesterday to the East and West squads for the National Football League's Pro Bowl Game Jan. 14.

James was picked by coach Al Sherman of the New York Giants for the Eastern Conference All-Stars while coach Norm Van Brocklin of the Vikings chose Reichow as his bonus choice for the West.

Both James and Reichow are all-purpose players.

Saints May Pass 50,000 Attendance

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Saints expect to pass the 50,000 mark in home attendance tonight when they battle the Los Angeles Jets at civic auditorium.

Figures released yesterday by the Saints show that the team has drawn 48,820 in 13 home games for an average of 3,755. This figure leads the American Basketball League and is well over the 2,900 which team president George McKeon has estimated that the team needs to break even.

The Saints are also on their fattest win string of the year. They won their fourth in a row Tuesday as they bumped the Jets, 114-110. It marked a successful debut for new head coach Al Brightman.

Lineups Announced For Shrine Classic

SANTA CLARA (UPI) — The East will take a two-platoon lineup sprinkled with All Americans into the Shrine East-West game at San Francisco Saturday.

Coach Joe Kuharich yesterday announced these starting teams:

OFFENSE—Ends, Lou Kirouac, Boston College and Gary Collins, Maryland; tackles, Billy Wilson, Auburn and Joe Carollo, Notre Dame; guards, Mike Ingram, Ohio State and Stanley Sczurek, Purdue; center Irvin Goode, Kentucky; quarterback, either Roman Gabriel, North Carolina State or Ron Miller, Wisconsin; halfbacks, Ernie Davis, Syracuse, and either Gary Ballman, Michigan State or Angelo Daberio, Notre Dame; fullback Bob Ferguson, Ohio State.

WEST LINEUP

STANFORD (UPI) — Coach Jim Owens of the West Shrine team said today that Oregon State defensive back Hank Rivera, who suffered a hip injury yesterday, would be able to start in Saturday's game.

Owens announced the following starting lineups:

OFFENSE — Ends, Buddy Iles, Texas Christian and Bobby Lane, Baylor; tackles, Bobby Plummer, Texas Christian and John Mevers, Washington; guards, Jim Skaggs, Washington and Ray Pinion, Texas Christian; center Ed Pine, Utah; quarterback, John Hadl, Kansas or Mel Melin, Washington State; halfbacks, Mack Burton, San Jose State and Curtis McClinton, Kansas; fullback Ron Bull, Baylor.

DEFENSE—Ends, Kent Petersen, Oregon and Oscar Donahue, San Jose State; tackles, Merlin Olsen, Utah State and Clark Miller, Utah State; and Clark Miller, Utah State; guards, Ed Blaine, Missouri and Guy Reese, Southern Methodist; linebackers, George Pierovich, California and Max Christian, Southern Methodist; halfbacks, Chuck Lamson, Wyoming and Kermit Jorgensen, Washington; safety Hank Rivera, Oregon State.

Bears' Rally Falls Short In Hoop Play At Portland

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Oregon State crushed Michigan 89-54 and Washington State fought off a last-minute California surge for a 61-54 victory in opening round games of the Far West Classic Basketball Tournament Wednesday night.

The Oregon Staters' 89 points set a new tournament record and a new school record.

Washington State was pressed by California when Dick Smith canned a 25-foot jumper to cut the Cougar lead to 55-52 with just under two minutes left. Don Lauer added another for the Golden Bears to pull them within one point.

But Terry Ball of Washington State, who led the scorers with 23 points, sank two free throws and Ernie Woods raced the length of the floor for a layin to put the game on ice for Washington State.

Lauer kept the Californians in the game in the second half with 13 points. He scored 20 for the evening.

Mill Valley Boys Top S.F. Quintet

Mill Valley Boys Club's 18-and-under age basketball team, paced by Conrad Hoetger's great 35-point performance, scored an 81-73 triumph over the Colombia Park Boys Club of San Francisco yesterday.

Other high scorers helping Mill Valley to its third win of the season were John Walker with 16 and Pete Hindlay with 14.

GREEN BAY IS WHITE—Workers at Green Bay's City Stadium have been kept busy this week preparing the field for Sunday's National Football League championship game between the Packers and New York Giants. Snow must be carted to sidelines in wheelbarrows and buckets. A crowd of 40,000 is expected for the playoff which will be nationally televised.

BAD NEWS FOR GIANTS

Packers' 1-2 Punch Looks Ready For Playoff Game

GREEN BAY (UPI)—A nearly healthy Jim Taylor and a Paul Hornung whose loss of weight has been compensated for by added speed greeted Green Bay Packer coach Vince Lombardi as the countdown neared for Sunday's National Football League championship game.

Taylor, who recuperation from a badly bruised hip has been slowed by cold weather, was running at nearly full speed in practice yesterday. He and defensive halfback Johnny Symank are the only Packers still on the injured list for Sunday's game against the Eastern Division champion New York Giants.

Symank's injury has also been slow in responding, but he was expected to be ready for the title game.

Hornung, whose weight dropped nearly 20 pounds after his induction into the Army last November, seemed faster and shiftier than ever in both his running and pass receiving yesterday.

This is the first week which the National Football League's top scorer has worked out with the team in seven weeks. The return to form of the league's top one-two punch could prove to be bad news for the New York Giants who are due to arrive by plane tomorrow.

Near zero temperatures chilled the Packers' most spirited drill in recent weeks yesterday. Temperatures were scheduled to be even colder when they headed for the field today. The thermometer registered a low 2 above at the start of yesterday's practice and after 90 minutes, had risen just one degree.

Using scarfs, sweaters, towels, gloves, practice jerseys and jackets to protect against the cold, the team drilled first on calisthenics. They then ran dummy plays against a New York defense, and with the versatile Lew Carpenter filling the quarterback role of Y.A. Tittle and Charley Cornerly, gave the defense a workout against Giant plays.

A large sign bearing the legend "Wallop The Giants" greeted the Packers yesterday as they ran on to the practice field. And if you were to make a telephone call in Green Bay, chances are more than likely you would hear "Beat the Giants" rather than a "Hello."

Seals Rally To Win Over Spokane

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—With a victory over Spokane under their belts, San Francisco's Seals are priming for a Saturday night Western Hockey League meeting with the Los Angeles Blades.

The last-place Seals put the pressure on second-place Spokane last night, finally winning 4-2.

Game Seasons Coming To An End; '62 Angling Licenses Now On Sale

STEVENS

In case Santa Claus unloaded a fowling piece at your home with your name on it, I remind you that a number of our game seasons are soon coming to an end. The general quail season ends the first of the year in all except Modoc, Plumas, Lassen and the eastern portions of Siskiyou and Shasta counties where it closed Dec. 17. January 1 is also the closing date on Chuker partridge. If you still have to down a brace of band-tailed pigeons and are willing to drive to the area where it is still legal to hunt them—south of the Butte-Glenn - Plumas - Tehama-Sierra County line—better get at it. the season closes on Jan. 14.

Ducks, geese, coots and gallinules will be legal only until Jan. 7, excepting in the Lower Klamath-Tule Lake area where it closes Jan. 3.

You have very little time left to try for Wilson's snipe as the season closes on them Dec. 31.

You will have, however, until Jan. 30, 1962 to bang away at black sea brant.

BY THE WAY, let me remind you all that sport fishing licenses are now on sale at bait shops, sporting goods stor \ and the like. If Santa forgot to include one for you for 1962, better get one BEFORE Jan. 1. According to the records each new year finds hundreds of avid anglers fishing without a license. The month of January (and oddly, the late fall months) net the prosecutors of licenseless citizens much boodle.

Remember that only one stamp beside the basic license is necessary for the taking of steelhead. Actually the steelhead is a trout but an exception is made.

SPEAKING OF steelhead and chances of water conditions being prime: Unless we had an unexpected heavy fall of rain between Tuesday afternoon and the time you read this column, your chances should be slightly better than at any time since the season opened. Practically all the popular streams, both north and south of the Golden Gate, have lowered and cleared. But, as always, I suggest you make a phone call to some place close to where you will try your luck and get the current conditions.

Bear in mind that a LIGHT rain on the day when you will be on the job will not hinder your chances. Perhaps the most perfect time for steelheading is on a day when light showers alternate with periods of sunshine, and the water has a slightly milky appearance. Then if ever comes perfect steelhead fishing conditions.

AS I have often stated in my newspaper columns and over my former radio broadcasts, the lowly flounder is one of the most palatable of fish dishes. There are many flounders in the San Pablo Bay at present. Rig up with at least one hook (the lower one) of small size. A mess of flounders is really worth while.

Chances for stripers are about the same as last week and the week before. Trolling in the lower regions — Red Rock, California City especially —remains amazingly productive on the right stages of the tides. Bait fishing with sardines and bullheads should yield many limits and more near limits this holiday week.

5 To 0 Rout For Aussies

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Australians Rod Laver and Roy Emerson completed a 5-0 rout of Italy in the Davis Cup challenge round today, then settled back to await professional offers from tennis promoter Jack Kramer.

Both are reported interested in joining the Kramer troupe for a swing through Australia beginning next month.

Although Kramer hasn't spoken, he is expected to offer the two young Queenslanders contracts similar to those accepted by Americans Butch Buchholz and Barry Mackay right after the Davis Cup competition last year. They were guaranteed about $30,000 for three years.

Laver turned back Italian ace Nicola Pietrangeli in a five-set match after Emerson had routed Orlando Sirola, 6-2, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2. Laver finally prevailed over Pietrangeli 6-3, 3-6, 4-6, 6-3, 8-6.

Laver and Emerson hold all the major amateur tennis titles of 1961. Laver won the Wimbledon championship and Emerson took the Australian and U.S. titles, the latter in an upset of Laver.

BOWL GAMES

Fraley's Forecasts: Gophers Over Bruins

By OSCAR FRALEY

MIAMI (UPI) — The final edition of Fraley's Football Follies and the Bowl game "winners" —or how to use up all that money left over from Christmas without breaking your arches looking for bargains.

Rose Bowl—Minnesota minus eight over UCLA.

Sugar Bowl—Arkansas plus 12½ over Alabama.

Cotton Bowl — Texas plus three over Mississippi.

Orange Bowl—LSU minus 13 over Colorado.

Gator Bowl — Georgia Tech minus three over Penn State.

Sun Bowl — Villanova over Wichita.

ROSE BOWL

The Golden Gophers still bear the briar marks of being lashed to defeat with a bunch of American Beauty roses last year. The major pitfall to a visiting team is being fractured with fetes and killed with kindness. But Minnesota coach Murray Warmath, to his sorrow, knows the pitfalls and will step warily.

On the record there doesn't seem to be too much to choose. Minnesota had a 7-2 mark and UCLA a 7-3 record. The Uclans never did live up fully to their pre-season publicity and might be expected to break loose on home soil. But the Big 10 was even tougher than it looked this season and the Gophers are set to pour it on. Which is why UCLA, even with eight points being offered by the man in the back room, doesn't look too attractive.

SUGAR BOWL

Alabama is the mythical national champion after rolling through its season with 10 wins against no defeats. But Arkansas, losing two out of 10 games, played a rugged schedule.

The Razorbacks are lean, rangy and tough. If this was rated even you'd have to go with Alabama, which should win the game. But if you give away the 12½ points you're looking for lumps on your head.

COTTON BOWL

Those who caught both Mississippi and Texas in action this season rate Ole Miss just a shade the better of the two, which is how the books see it in making the former a three-point favorite.

But that thar Texas team, which matched Ole Miss' 9-1 record, has one important item going for it. The Longhorns will be running in a Southwest Conference stronghold and, if a home battleground is worth one touchdown, playing "deep in the heart" is worth more than that.

ORANGE BOWL

LSU was getting closer and closer to the top as the season wore on. Its 9-1 record is no better than Colorado's seasonal mark and Colorado coach Sonny Grandelius says without equivocation "we came to win."

But the Bengals of the Bayou have three rugged teams which figure to wear down the Buffaloes and make it a rout by the final quarter.

GATOR BOWL

This game is Saturday and the principals are evenly matched with 7-3 records. But Tech almost makes a career out of bowl games and has a tremendous 11-3 record in post-season play. There isn't too much to choose but the hunch here is that the wreck will ramble often and far enough to bag the Nittany Lions.

SUN BOWL

Another Saturday affair and don't sell Wichita too short. It had an 8-2 mark against Villanova's 7-2 record. But the Wildcats came up big and strong this season and if they have recaptured their earlier season touch after a rest they should put this one away.

Pirates' Don Hoak Marries Singer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Singer Jill Corey and baseball player Don Hoak were married yesterday in a civil ceremony.

Heavy downtown traffic caused Miss Corey to arrive 15 minutes late for the ceremony in the chambers of Judge Frederick Weir of Allegheny County.

But the wedding went off as planned with only the immediate family, a few friends—including Pittsburgh Mayor Joseph Barr—and newsmen in attendance.

The couple plans to honeymoon in Hot Springs, Ark., and Bermuda where Miss Corey has singing engagements.

The marriage was the first for the singer, 26, who used her real name—Norma Jean Speranza—on the marriage certificate. She was born in nearby Avonmore.

Hoak, third baseman for the Pittsburgh Pirates, was divorced by his first wife last Nov. 20. He is 33.

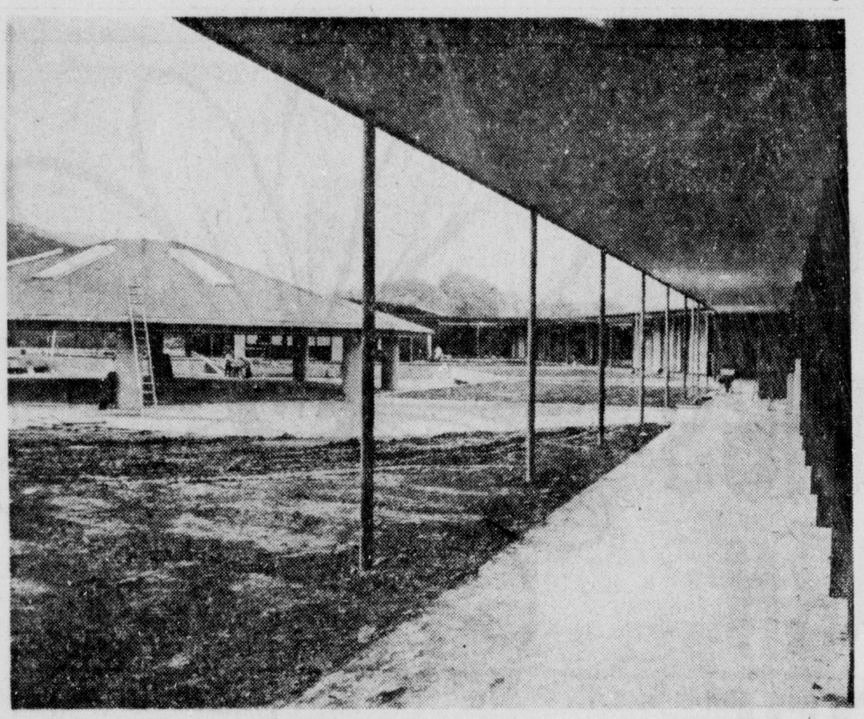
SAN JOSE SCHOOL READY FOR PUPILS

Under the broad dome of the covered recreational area of the new San Jose Intermediate School, William De Bisschop of Leonardi Electric Construction Co., San Rafael, screws in a big bulb to give more light. With completion of the new school double sessions come to an end in the San Jose District. When school opens again next Tuesday the district will create two new classes due to increase in second and fourth grade enrollment at Pacheco School which is moving 14 classes of intermediate students into the new quarters.



OPEN CORRIDOR OF NEW SCHOOL—This view shows a sheltered corridor in the open air at the new San Jose Intermediate School, opening next Tuesday. In left background is a dome covering the recreation area which will also provide a sheltered outdoor space for school lunches. Lawns will be made on the present dirt stretches when spring arrives. (Independent-Journal photos)

Hospital Unit Seeking Fire Protection

Marin County Hospital District directors have instructed Administrator W. W. Turner and attorney Harold Riede to meet with the Kentfield Fire District Commission to enter into negotiations for continued fire protection.

The action came after the board heard a letter from the fire commission about blocking of fire access roads on the hospital grounds by unauthorized parking.

The board appointed director Allan Chambliss to work with Turner in drawing up a guide "outlining the working relationships between the administration and board and defining developed operating policies."

Appointed to the associate staff last night were Dr. Marvin L. Gerber of San Rafael and Dr. Michael D. Scholl of Belvedere. Dr. Adolph Segal of Mill Valley was appointed to the courtesy staff.

The directors at 9 a.m. Saturday will meet with the hospital architects to discuss building progress of the Babcock Memorial Wing.

'Hatful Of Rain' Will Reopen Tomorrow

"Hatful of Rain" will reopen tomorrow at the Gate Playhouse in Sausalito after two cast changes and a Christmas vacation.

Director Will Marchetti is now playing the lead role of Johnny Pope and Frank Loverde has replaced Marchetti in the role of the father. The show has been extended through Jan. 13.

"The Glass Menagerie," also directed by Marchetti, will open Jan. 18 and is scheduled to run through March. Cast includes Peggy Evans as Amanda, Deane Cyr as Tom Wingfield, Myrl Britton as Laura and the role of gentleman caller by Marchetti.

Gate Five Productions has secured a new lease on the Gate Playhouse at 668 Bridgeway and is planning to give five shows during the summer to run two weeks each, Marchetti said. The resident company is to be strengthened by several members of the Cleveland Playhouse who appeared in Sausalito in November.

Included in the lease agreement is a new heating plant for the former movie house.

Flying Tiger Lines Hopeful About Future

NEW YORK (AP)—Flying Tiger Line, whose freight and cargo flights barely kept it in the black during recent months said it hopes for "satisfactory results" in 1962.

Robert W. Prescott, president, summed it up this way:

"In the military contract field, current developments indicate that we can expect continued heavy volume. In the commercial field, we expect to see good results despite very heavy competition."

Prescott said the line, which is based in Burbank, "can look forward to a good year profitwise if our traffic assumptions prove reasonably accurate."

Mrs. Wilson Weakens

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, 89, widow of the World War I president, was reported a little weaker today. Her physician has described her illness as a respiratory ailment with complications.

Civic Center Damage Claim Is Put Aside

Marin County supervisors have decided to do nothing for the time being about a $13,872 damage claim for the civic center stopwork order of last Jan. 10, on advice from their one lawyer-member that "no crisis is involved."

Supervisor Peter Behr said he had called attorneys for the major contractor, Rothschild, Raffin and Weirick of San Francisco, and discussed procedures for protection of the contractor's legal rights. This will involve filing a second letter of claim, after which there will be four years before a statute of limitations applies, said Behr.

"My thought is that they should file their proof as amended, then move to confer," said Behr.

Chairman William D. Fusselman expressed the group view in saying that the matter might henceforth be considered as "taken under submission."

No Water Meeting

Lack of quorum prevented last night's scheduled meeting of the Marin Municipal Water District board, which will meet next Jan. 10.

394,000 Live Births Reported In State

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The state department of public health estimated there were 394,000 live births in California during 1961, for a birth rate of 23.4 per thousand population.

This was the same birth rate as the previous year, although the number of live births increased by 12,000.

Corpsman In Crash Faces Manslaughter

One of the drivers involved in a seven-car crash that killed a Sonoma painter Tuesday afternoon near San Rafael faced a manslaughter charge today in Marin Municipal Court.

The accused is Beryl Donald Heiney, 37, a hospital corpsman first class who serves aboard the McMorriss at Long Beach. His home is in Santa Rosa.

A complaint filed by the district attorney accuses Heiney of killing Sonoma painter Carl F. Bolin, 53, without malice. He was being held by military police today at the Treasure Island Receiving Station.

Bolin was a member of Painters Local 83 in San Rafael and worked for Happy Homes in Mill Valley.

Four others, including Heiney, were injured in the seven-car pileup on Puerto Suello Hill just north of San Rafael.

The first known photograph of a living person was made in 1839. A study by Daguerre, it showed a Parisian gentleman getting a shoeshine at a street stand.

Fashion Experts Forecast Trends

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK — Fashion trends are not much of a a secret despite the cloak and dagger intrigue dramatically surrounding Parisian and American couture collections.

The color dye industry informs the textile industry of the new approved hues for the forthcoming year. A year ahead the textile industry informs the couturier of the technical improvements which will make new types of material, and therefore new styles possible.

The designer suggests fabrics he'd like to work with a few seasons hence, until nearly everybody has enough information to know a long time in advance as to which way the fashion wind blows.

The direction in 1962 is toward more conservative colors, classic style lines without radical changes in silhouette, executed in supple, figure-clinging yard goods.

Rudy Semler a textile expert, Madge Wilson, a color card association executive, and Bill Blass, a designer, agree on this.

"Clothes will have to be more romantic with supple, flowing lines because we are making even silkier fibers with much finer yarns for use tomorrow," Semler says.

"New colors for the fall of '62 are cherry red, true blue, hunter type green, clear colors but not as gaudy as they have been," indicates Miss Wilson.

She is director of the Color Information Association, an organization of the nation's major manufacturers who decided in 1915 to introduce a mutually agreed upon color card each year. As a result, accessory manufacturers are able to match coats and dresses with the appropriate hats, gloves, shoes and jewelry.

"It will be a period of more conformist clothes," Bill Blass says. He has finished his spring '62 collection and is now working on fall. "I'm expecting our First Lady's good taste to have a continuing good effect."

About these popular fashion terms for '62 Blass says:

"NOTHING" DRESS — "It will become a 'something dress.' The purity of the Balenciaga with attention to the overall look of the appropriate hat, jewelry, bags and gloves should always be with us. The dress will be uncontrived, continental, natural looking next year."

RUFFLES—"Yes, but ruffles do not necessarily make a silly, fluttery Billie Burke type of dress. If done right, they can adorn in a soignee rather than a sweet fashion, and I think we'll be having more of that sort of thing."

FIT—"Close to the body but never pasted to it."

HEMLINES—"They will be an individual matter, short for most people, longer for some but never as long as Simonetta in Italy would like to see them be."

COSTUME DRESS — "With rapid travel and so many air conditioned places, the world is about the same temperature the year 'round. Little coats and jackets over dresses are ideal these days, and will continue to be."

FURS—"They will to be strong for they are women's best means of flattery. They will often be used as accessories instead of jewelry. Yes, zebra and leopard prints will continue to be good next year."

PLEATS AND FLARE — "I have no feeling about them one way or another."

COLLARS AND SLEEVES—"Minimum of these, there will be as much exposure as possible."

Color expert Madge Wilson says about:

PLAIDS—"There is a tendency to be more conservative here. Backgrounds will be in color but the block will be white or black."

FLORAL PATTERNS — "Instead of the large, flashy kinds you will see small, classic ones."

"NOTHING" COLORS—Favorites accessory colors will be neutral grays, heathers, vicunas instead of olive, putty and oatmeal hues we now have."

CHIFFONS—"They are gradually losing out, shouldn't be too important by next year."

MIRACLE FIBERS—"You'll see even more stretch materials, also 'starched' clothes that don't require starching."

PARIS HUES—"The European market is copying us, in fact behind us. We are not going to go back to the dark tone hues they are using."

Rudy Semler has these comments about fabrics:

A TWO-PIECE look is created with pleated skirt and gentle, hip-length, back-buttoning overblouse. This beloved classic is supremely sophisticated in Jacques Maisch's smoke beige crepe with squared neckline and the briefest of sleeves.

CURVED BANDS give subtle definition to this waistline in an elegant two-piece ensemble for Maurice Rentner. Trapeze-like skirt flare towards the hemline and hemline and an extended shoulder line achieves a restrained, bare-arm look in this crepe.

Leslie, who is a Katharine Branson School graduate and has attended Bryn Mawr, is the sister of Timothy Jacks and the granddaughter of Mrs. Farwell Hill of Ross and the late E. B. Hill and of Mr. and Mrs. French Jacks of Novato.

Richard is the brother of David and Marden Plant and the grandson of Thomas G. Plant Sr. of Sonoma and the late Mrs. Plant. His maternal grandmother is Mrs. Theodore Tatterson of San Francisco

He attended the Lick-Wilmerding School and will be graduated from San Francisco State College in June.

The couple's wedding plans are indefinite.

Family Visiting Eugene Robinsons

Maj. and Mrs. Eugene Robinson of San Anselmo have as visitors at their home this week their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Rittmayer of Santa Monica, and their three children, John, Robert and Serena Jane. Mrs. Rittmayer is the former Ann Robinson.

Other visitors who have gathered with the family are another daughter.

The Rittmayers have also visited with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Pershing of Mill Valley and with her brother, Eugene Robinson of San Mateo, who with his children, Julie, Laurel, Hélene and Billy, visited with the Robinsons in San Anselmo this week.

Yesterday the Rittmayers spent the day in Santa Rosa visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maddux with their children, Serena Ann and Phil, and another aunt, Mrs. Tom Proctor. They will return to Santa Monica on Saturday.

MARIN'S SOCIAL WHIRL

Mrs. Marion Macey Married At Home Rites In San Rafael

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

Without any formal announcement, the marriage of Mrs. Marion Bridgman Macey of Kentfield and Willis Slusser, a San Francisco attorney, took place yesterday morning at the San Rafael home of her uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. William G. Moore. Officiating at the 10 a.m. ceremony was Dr. James Miller of the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo

Dr. and Mrs. Moore and the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Slusser of Berkeley were the only persons present at the vow exchange. The newlyweds will reside in Kentfield after a honeymoon in Nassau.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. G. Temple Bridgman and granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Ward Mailliard. By her marriage to James G. Macey, which terminated two years ago in divorce, she has four children, James Macey Jr., a student at the University of Nevada, Anne Mailliard Macey, a post-deb, Mary Edington Macey, who attends Katharine Branson School, and John Bridgman Macey, who goes to the Kentfield School. She is the sister of John M. Bridgman and G. Temple Bridgman Jr. and Mrs. John F. Loughran, who was married a month ago in Denver.

It was also the second marriage for the bridegroom. who was married to Nancy Foote Slusser, now Mrs. Kenneth Bechtel. He has two sons, James and David Slusser.

MR. AND MRS. THEODORE L. Eliot of Belvedere returned Monday from a visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ewell O'Bryan Jr. (Joan Eliot) and their two children, who live at Lake Oswego, Ore. The Eliots flew north Friday to spend Christmas with the family.

The Eliots' other two daughters and their son live in the East. Theodore L. (Ted) Eliot Jr. and his wife, the former Patricia Peters, and their four children reside in Washington, D.C. They went to a home in New Hampshire for the holidays. En route they stopped in Troy, N.Y. to visit his sister, Mrs. Robert F. Winne Jr. (Mary Eliot) her husband and children. Ted is with the Treasury Department "on loan" from the Foreign Service. He is special assistant to Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon. In Miami, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander Stevens (Gwladys Eliot) celebrated Christmas with their three children.

IN THE SNOW COUNTRY for the holidays are Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Spiller of Kent Woodlands and their three children. They are at their house in Squaw Valley. Doctor Spiller's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Manship and their four children of Baton Rouge, La., are joining them for a week or more of skiing.

FACE AND FIGURE

Hairstyles Go Asymmetrical

There's more than one "good" side to every woman, particularly when she's wearing a new asymmetrical hairdo. Each side has its special appeal.

According to Frederic Jones, New York hairstylist, the smart set of Paris, Rome, Vienna, Madrid, Lisbon and London are wearing off-balanced hairstyles. Mr. Jones predicts American women will also find a refreshing change and flattery in the new styles.

Says Mr. Jones, "Everywhere we visited by day or evening, we saw this asymmetrical look. During the day the line was on the conservative side but dynamic and exciting. After dark detail was exaggerated, exotic and extreme."

CLINGING LINES

Still another mood observed by Mr. Jones was the trend toward hair fashion simplicity, with more clinging lines. He reports, "There is less backcombing or teasing for high and wide effects; more definite wave patterns and clean lines; and less height at topfront. Even the most casual hairstyles reflect form, line and movement. The new and important accent is the graduated height that hovers at the crown."

Bows, according to Mr. Jones, continue to be favorites in the realm of hairstyle ornamentation. Especially popular are the velvet bow clips in two new sizes. These are used with great chic in pairs of one size, singly, or in combinations of both sizes; and in fashion coordinated harmony or contrasting colors at all junctures on the hairdo. Mr. Jones also reports that the velvet bow clips were used as accessories.

"Asymmetrical lines are wearable and flattering to more women than any fashion trend in recent seasons," Mr. Jones explained, "because the most beautiful face is seldom perfectly balanced. Slight feature or contour irregularities show up when one looks at the profile from left or right if a woman is wearing a balanced hairstyle. There is not enough chance to compensate in design details for the imperfections. With the asymmetrical line, however, each side of her face is framed differently. Her structural needs are the prime consideration in arranging the hair about her face. Generally one side is flared or full, the other is close to her head in an off-ear sophisticated severity. But it can cover her ear in a pretty, soft movement just as well if that is best on her. Likewise, if the features or structure require that the asymmetrical emphasis be on the right or left, the hairdo is designed accordingly. There is great opportunity for individuality."

BASIC PATTERN

For your own new look asymmetrical hairdo, try Mr. Jones' basic clip curl setting pattern. Front-top: Three stand-up curls at hairline, turned right in winding. Next row, one curl at left turned left; two turned right. Balance of top stand-up curls turned forward. All fastened with double prong pin curl clips. Left Side: Comb hair up and off ear in curved line. One face-ward ringlet near temple. Right Side: Fill in with flat, forward curls. Anchor with double prong pin curl clips. Back: Large flat curls, stem some to right, others to left. If hair is thick, increase size of curl and fasten with large size clips. Fill in nape area with small ringlets; fasten with single prong clips.

Harris-Hein Rite In Mill Valley

Living in Mill Valley are Dr. and Mrs. Leon Harris, who were married recently at the Mill Valley Methodist Church.

The double ring ceremony was performed at 11 a.m. by the Rev. G. Russell Oaks with members of immediate families only attending.

The bride, who is the former Marilyn Hein of San Francisco, recited her vows in a cocktail length gown of white lace and a white satin hat.

Matron of honor was her only sister, Mrs. Jerrold A. Wergeland of Hayward, who wore a blue knit suit and black hat. Among those present were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Hein of Seattle.

Best man was Dr. Frank J. Kelly of Tiburon.

The new Mrs. Harris is a graduate of the University of Washington and before her marriage was employed as a clinic dietician at the Permanente medical group in San Francisco.

Dr. Harris was graduated from the Harvard Medical School and is a doctor of internal medicine with the Permanente medical group.

It's Natural For Boys To Be 'Woman Haters' At Age 8 To 12

Do you have a boy between 8 and 12 years old? Is he a woman hater? Then he's normal. Our rugged young sons haven't much use for girls.

Up to 6 or 7 boys like girls. They play with them. They may even hold hands, and walk their lassies into class. Little girls like boys, too. There is nothing particularly sexy about their attachment. They're just friends.

Then boys discover gangs. They discover sports, and masculine activities. They form lasting friendships with other males. They pick as leader the biggest and strongest one of the bunch. They copy him in every way possible. Girls? They're a nuisance now.

Then nature plays its dirtiest trick on girls. Many girls in the fifth or sixth grade become young ladies. They grow up years ahead of boys. They become romantic. They want boy friends. They try to latch on to the males in their classes. But the boys still are women-haters. They reject the girls, scornfully. The girls suffer, and suffer, and suffer. Ladies, do you remember how it was?

Some boys begin to change when they're 13 or 14, and some not till later. But eventually they all grow up. They fall in love. It is their turn to suffer. A friend of mine who has studied boy-girl relationships says that girls and women make boys and men pay all the rest of their lives for the neglect of the fifth and sixth grades. Is he right? Who knows?

Be patient with your rugged little boy. He needs to enjoy his wonderful, active, masculine world. Don't turn him into a sissy, please.

(Q) "My son is in the second grade. His teacher is giving him instruction in phonetics. I thought the phonetic sounds were bad for reading. Was I wrong?"

Mrs. K.A.

(A) I believe you were. There was a period when phonetics, the sounding out of syllables, was dropped from school. It was a mistake. Now in most schools the sounds are taught in second and third grades. Better sight-reading usually results.

Writer Likes A Poetic Atmosphere

By MARY CAMPBELL

NEW YORK (AP)—"I know what I like in children's stories but I don't know what I don't like," muses Laurent de Brunhoff, French author now making his first visit to the United States.

De Brunhoff writes books about the adventures of a little elephant king named Babar (published here in English translation) and illustrates them with pictures of Babar, his family and friends.

"I like poetic atmosphere," he says.

"I like something quite usual for children. They have to have something the same in their world as the one they're reading in the book, to be at home. I think they must recognize the atmosphere of the family.

"But also we must add a little bit fantastic. Not only the realistic life. It is a mixture of this realistic poetry of daily life and fantastic poetry which is, I think, the best for children's books."

LIKES FANTASY

The writer does not agree with critics who deplore fantasy in children's books and recommend 100 per cent realism. He says:

"I don't think fantasy is harmful. Of course there is a limit we ought not to go across. We have to stay in a world of fantasy but not a fantastic world. Because a child, I think, has a very logical mind, and a fantastic world is not logical and a child gets lost in such a world."

De Brunhoff adds that suspense, important for childhood fiction as it is for adult, is often lacking in a rigidly realistic tale.

"A boy or girl has to wonder what is going to happen, to be sometimes excited, to be sometimes afraid of what is going on. He has to be surprised from one page to another."

FATHER'S FOOTSTEPS

De Brunhoff, a slender man in his middle 40s, with a friendly face and a receding hairline, is continuing the Babar series begun in 1931 by his father, Jean de Brunhoff.

"I was 12 when my father died," the present author says, "but I already did a lot of little Babar drawings.

"After the war his books were published again, and I started to make a book. I had no children at this time, so I had to remember my childhood."

Mill Valley's Noble Grand Enjoys Hours On Cruiser

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Mrs. Anthony Fontes, newly elected noble grand of Mill Valley's Blythedale Rebekah Lodge No. 305, says she is primarily a "home body," for she is interested in cooking, sewing, gardening and reading.

But she enjoys most of all as a leisure activity, the hours she spends with her family in their cabin cruiser.

Mrs. Fontes has been a member of Blithedale Lodge since 1955 and progressed through the "Chairs" to her present office as noble grand of the Mill Valley chapter of this organization founded for mutual aid, social fellowship and charitable purposes. Membership is by invitation or application.

Mrs. Fontes says she hopes to accomplish as a major project during her term of office completion of plans to have the interior of the Mill Valley Odd Fellows Hall painted.

Since 1960 she has also been a member of Mill Valley's Tamalpais Circle of Druids No. 183.

Born in Benicia, Calif., Mrs. Fontes came to Mill Valley 18 years ago with her husband, who was a grader operator employed by Marin County until he retired in 1959.

MRS. ANTHONY FONTES

The family has lived in Corte Madera for the past two years at 33 Key Largo.

Director Of Mint Has Always Enjoyed Seeing Metal Melted

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP) — "When I was a little kid I used to wander around mills and mines—and watch them melt metal," says Eva B. Adams.

"I found it fascinating even then. The other day they showed me a film of the actual making of coins. I tell you, I could smell it."

The daughter of a onetime gold miner who later turned hotel owner, she is now director of the U.S. Mint. She was confirmed Sept. 23, and after a vacation at home—she was born in Wonder, Nev. — she came back for the swearing in Oct. 30.

A reddish-blonde-haired, 5-foot-2 size 14, she has long been the mainstay of senators of New Mexico of both political persuasions.

She learned, as administrative assistants do, to say "No" so genially it was almost a pleasure to hear it. But large groups of women terrify her. Still, those at the "Woman's Investors Clinic" here, sponsored by the Federation of Women Shareholders in American Business Inc., were somewhat overwhelmed to find her anything but the militant feminist executive.

"It's always bothered me," she explained later, "those women with executive jobs who forget they're women. No one can be other than she is. But you don't have to change into a tough customer just because you're in a job that's supposedly man's work. You can always do better if you're yourself. Sometimes you can get so busy putting on you can't be yourself."

Eva Adams is always herself. No one who treasures an honorary bartenders union card of long ago, who loves—charitably—to watch people when they think they're unobserved and who's best known for a habit of going barefoot around the office can have pretensions.

She explains about the shoes-off-in-the-office addiction: "I have good feet. It's not that. It's just that I don't like to wear shoes."

For reasons she can't understand, the word has gone around the world. Slippers are sent her from far away as Egypt and Mexico. Last year when she was vacationing with friends in Hawaii a Honolulu paper ran an editorial commending her for her barefoot habits.

Miss Adams was approached one day in 1940 at the University of Nevada, where she was assistant dean of women and an English instructor, by the late Sen. Pat McCarran a friend of her father's. He asked her to come to Washington as his administrative assistant. She was indignant. "I'm not a politician," she told him tartly.

"He threw back his head and laughed," she recalls, "and he said he didn't want a politician, but somebody who knew the English language."

Before the Nevada teaching job she had worked her way through a master's degree in English at Columbia University in New York, and after she took Sen. McCarran's offer, she studied law at night at George Washington University in the nation's capital. Now she's a member of the bar in her home state and of the Supreme Court bar.

"But I'm not so smart," she says modestly. "I've just persisted, and worked hard at what I've done."

After McCarran's death, she stayed on with his interim Republican successor, Ernest Brown, and when he was defeated at the polls, remained to work for the winner, Alan Bible, a Democrat.

Novato Rainbow Holds Fun Day

Quarterly fun day for the Novato Rainbow Girls with activities in San Rafael and San Francisco was held Saturday headed by Lyndie Walton, worthy advisor.

Thirty Novato girls visited with the San Rafael Rainbow Girls followed by an afternoon in San Francisco.

The girls started the afternoon fun in San Francisco with a cable car ride from Fisherman's Wharf to downtown San Francisco singing Christmas carols. Passengers and the conductor also joined in. Following dinner and window shopping they caroled at Union Square where they were joined by a large holiday crowd.

Accompanying the girls on the trip were Major and Mrs. Cecil Walton, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jones and Mrs. Robin Cannon, all of Novato.

Hats For Tots

One of America's best-known milliners has decided to design hats for little girls. Sally Victor, who has "hatted" Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, her daughter-in-law and granddaughters for years, said the hat will be available for age groups from three on through the early teens.

Anne Spieler Betrothed To Fred Styles

At a dinner party on Christmas eve, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Francis Spieler of Hillsborough, announced the engagement of their daughter, Anne Eleanor, to Frederick John Styles of Washington, D.C.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Styles of Belvedere.

The bride-elect was graduated from Notre Dame High School in Belmont and will graduate in June from Dominican College. She is the sister of Mrs. John D. Bertone of San Francisco and Joseph Graham Spieler, a student at the University of San Francisco.

The future benedict, who is the brother of Mrs. Culver Brown of Palo Alto and Mrs. G. F. Comstock III of Honolulu, was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and Santa Clara University. He is with the National Aeronautic and Space Administration in Washington.

Plans are being made for a late summer wedding.

Robert O'Neel Claims Bride At Ceremony In Santa Rosa

Robert W. O'Neel Jr. of Sausalito claimed Ellen Williams of St. Petersbury, Fla., as his bride on Saturday, Dec. 16, at a ceremony attended by relatives only in Santa Rosa.

The single ring rites were performed at 3:30 p.m. by the Rev. W. F. Daulton at the Santa Rosa Methodist Church.

When the bride was given in marriage by a friend, Charles Mathews of San Rafael, she was wearing a street length antique gold embroidered silk gown designed in a frame style. A matching cage veil and accessories completed her costume.

Best man for the bridegroom was his brother, Jack O'Neel of Santa Rosa. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. O'Neel, who are socially prominent in Indianapolis, Ind.

Among those present was the bride's mother, Mrs. Joseph Guy Williams of St. Petersburg. Her father was unable to attend.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Benton of Cotati, and the couple left afterward for a honeymoon in Northern California. They will live in Sausalito.

The bride was graduated from Stetson University in Deland, Fla., and before her marriage was employed as head of the promotional department of a firm of civil engineers in San Francisco. She has two brothers, Jack and Joseph Williams of St. Petersburg.

The bridegroom was graduated from Indiana University with major in business administration and is employed by the National Homes Corporation as a district representative for Northern California with headquarters in Newark.

Carlene Brown Engaged To Wed

The engagement of Carlene Brown and Richard Untermann was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Brown of San Rafael, on Christmas Day at the Untermann home.

Carlene, who is the sister of Linda Brown, is in her junior year at San Francisco State College, where she is a member of Kappa Theta. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Killian of Placerville.

Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Untermann of San Rafael and the brother of Jean, Tom and Dennis Untermann. He is a senior at the University of California at Berkeley, where he is a member of Theta Xi fraternity.

The couple is planning an August wedding.

Pamela Stettler Feted At Shower

On Dec. 20, a surprise wedding shower and luncheon was given honoring Pamela Stettler who will become the bride of James Costello of San Rafael on Saturday.

Hostesses for the affair were Misses Marilee Michael, Trish Costello, Kitty Smartt, Judy Templeman, and Bonnie Curry.

The shower was held at the home of Miss Michael in San Rafael. A luncheon followed at Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club.

Guests included Mrs. Frances West, mother of the bride-elect; Mrs. Patrick Costello, Mrs. Roy Michael, and the Misses Barbara Simontacchi, Jill Sigler, Louise McFarland, Peggy Hayman, Karen Simontacchi, Diane Jaccard and Judy Evans.

Teenage Humor Gets Laugh, Does It 'Break Up' Adults?

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK—Teen-age humor gets the laughs among the teen-agers, but do adults dig it?

Well, let's see if you laugh at this one which "breaks up" the younger set.

"If an athlete has athlete's foot, does an astronaut have mistletoe?"

No chuckle? Then what about this one?

Question: Who is the father of all jokes?

Answer: Popcorn.

These are a couple of samples of teen-age tastes in humor uncovered in a survey of hundreds of high school editors from coast to coast.

The study, made by a magazine catering to youth, found that teen-agers laugh at everything from dull pencil jokes (no point) to highbrow humor, from nonsense riddles and silly puns to satire and the sick, sick, sick.

But they use humor to get revenge on people and ideas they consider pompous and boring. Wit is their weapon both offensively and defensively. But they laugh hardest, the researchers found, at "inside humor" — private nonsense words such as "zilch" and "unga" and "scag," all adjectives to be tossed into a sentence almost anywhere.

Currently, there's a fad for concocting new versions of popular slogans. Instances: "Support mental illness." "Flunk now, avoid the rush." "Remember forest fires can prevent bear." "Confucius say 'People who live in glass houses had better dress in the basement.'"

The teen-agers are experts at the insult, which they call the "crow," the "chop" or the "cut." Typical insults: "He's as handy as a screen door on a submarine," and such standbys as "Why don't you put your two heads together?" or "I'd like to help you out—how did you come in?"

Sandra Monte To Marry On Jan. 14

Mrs. Alice Monte and D. Frank Monte of San Anselmo are announcing the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Sandra Sue, to Denis Peter McCarthy of San Rafael.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Peter McCarthy of San Rafael and the late Mr. McCarthy.

The bride-elect, who is the sister of Charles Monte of San Anselmo, attended Sir Francis Drake High School and was graduated from high school in Sacramento. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Harry Brown of San Anselmo and Mrs. Marie Pagliano.

The future bridegroom was graduated from San Rafael High School and College of Marin. He served in the U.S. Coast Guard and is now a correctional officer at San Quentin Prison.

The wedding will be an event of Jan. 14.

Thanks to MRS. JOE HOLLAND, 500 6th. AVE., WARMINSTER, PA.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Dec. 28, the 362nd day of the year with three to follow in 1961.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1832, Vice President John C. Calhoun resigned from office, the only vice president in the history of the United States to take such action.

In 1846, Iowa, the 29th state, was admitted to the Union.

In 1945, Congress officially recognized the patriotic "Pledge of Allegiance" to the flag of the United States.

In 1959, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller heeded advice that odds supported Vice President Richard Nixon in deciding to withdraw from the presidential race.

A thought for the day: American novelist and essayist James Branch Cabell said: "The optimist proclaims that we live in the best of all possible worlds; and the pessimist fears this is true."

Remember When Grocer Knew All His Customers?

Growth, development, expansion — those words describe what has gone on in Marin with ever increasing velocity since the end of World War II.

They have brought changes to Marin and quite likely will bring even more change in the next few years.

And, as we noted in this space a couple of days ago, some of the changes are obvious while others are obscure.

The grocer knew by name every single person who walked into his store, man, woman or child.

The policeman on the street (and he was mostly on foot, then) knew almost every single person he saw on the street.

Parents knew their children's teachers as fellow citizens in town.

A newspaper publisher was personally well acquainted with every single advertiser and knew nearly all of his newspaper's subscribers.

Nowadays people change their place of residence much more frequently. And wage earners change their place of employment even more frequently.

What are the effects of this state of affairs? Are the effects good or bad?

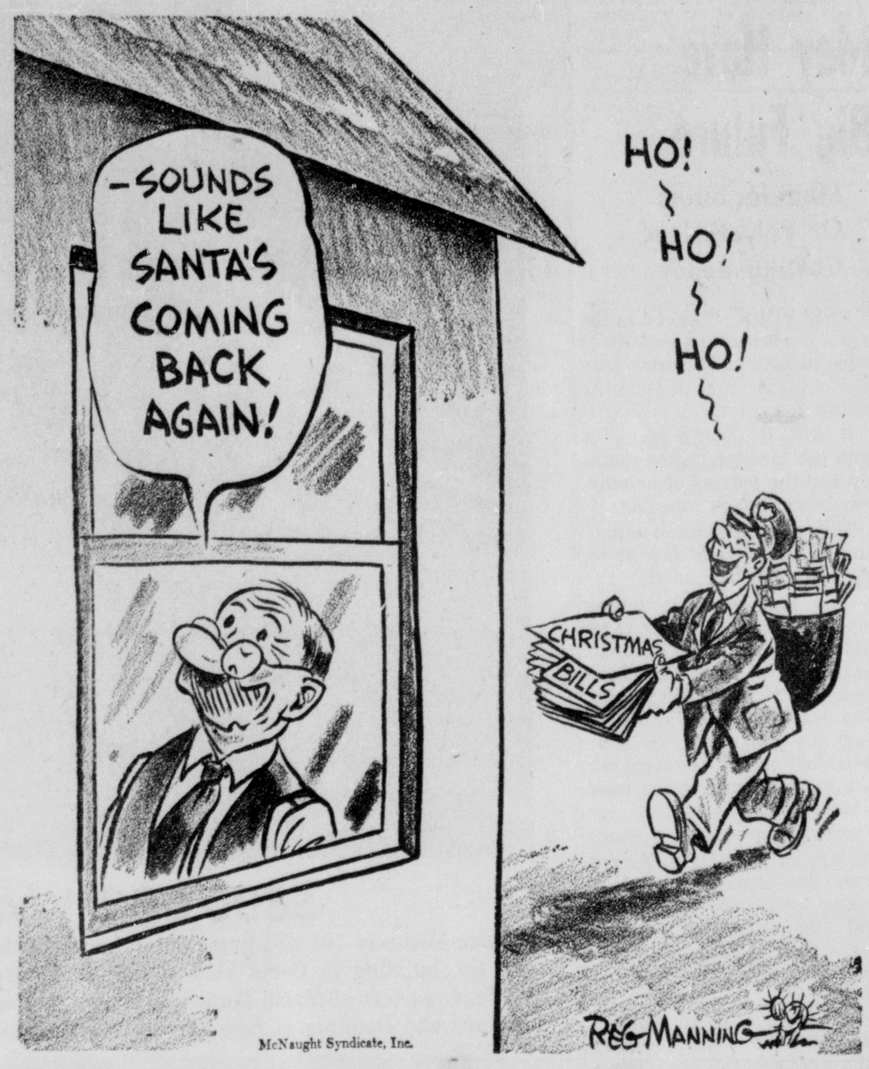
Business tends to become impersonal. People who work for chain stores and for big corporations seem less personally concerned with the feelings of those with whom they do business.

Families that move around from place to place don't get a chance to "get their roots down" in the community. They are frequently widely acquainted, but have few really close friends.

An individual who changes jobs frequently in quest of higher earnings may be doing the "smart" thing economically. Corporations that move their executives around frequently may improve corporate efficiency.

But we rather liked the old way better. We lament its passing.

CAN'T BELIEVE MY EARS—



THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

CAUGHT TRAIN, LOST EVERYTHING ELSE

Lunging for a packed subway in Manhattan, a breathless woman managed to get aboard—but not so her purse full of valuables.

It was pinned just oustide the closed doors as the train pulled out of the Fifth Avenue station. Then the purse handle snapped, leaving behind her $3,665 in cash, 4 bank books showing $15,120 in deposits and 6 rings with a total of 19 diamonds.

Meanwhile an alert platform conductor picked up the valuable pocketbook and reported its loss to the proper authorities. She finally got her treasure back.

Important as it is to move quickly in these fast-stepping days, there is always enough time to make sure we are getting there in the right way.

Life is nothing but a journey back to our loving Father. If we try to reach Him with our hands filled with good works and sacrifice for Him, we need not fear losing anything of value.

"Seek you therefore first the kingdom of God . . . "

(Matthew 6:33)

Grant me enough good sense, O Lord, to take time out to know where I am going in Your sight.

WASHINGTON WINDOW

Timothy Tugbutton Blows Gasket At Idea Of Pay Boost For Solons

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Hon. Timothy Tugbutton is an old friend of my father's who calls on me occasionally to complain about the way the president is running the country. Any president.

Tugbutton has not had a satisfactory president since Grover Cleveland. A Roosevelt almost made it with Tugbutton. Not THE Roosevelt, but Teddy. Except for Cleveland and TR, Tugbutton holds that he and the nation would have been and would be better off with a Chinaman in the White House.

"Any Chinaman," the old man will tell you. "Any Chinaman at all. Did you ever hear of a Chinaman getting his laundry into a war, or his restaurant? No, by golly, you didn't.

"And did you ever hear of a Chinaman spending every year more than his laundry took in? No.! Chinamen ain't made that way. Maybe so they don't have adding and subtracting machines and have to toss up accounts with their fingers. But they know when they are out of money and they don't go spending money they don't have.

"Ever hear of a Chinaman going bankrupt? Nope you didn't."

OLD TUGBUTTON was singing that song the last time I saw him but when he came into the office this time there was no song. Just anger. He swept through the door brandishing his cane, a heavy, blackthorn weapon. He banged the newsdesk, swept two coffee cartons to the floor, spilling most of the coffee on the dress of Miss Ohliger, the office beauty.

"Look at this," Tugbutton shouted. He was waving now a rolled copy of the local paper. "Just look at this. Thirty two thousand and five hundred dollars."

The Hon. Timothy rolled the numbers off his tongue with an angry cadence.

"Thirty two thousand and five hundred dollars," the old man was ending with a scream—"for congressmen!

"They ain't worth it," he boomed. "I've knowed congressmen all my life going way back to Knute Nelson in Kansas. Wasn't one of 'em worth thirty two hundred leave alone thirty two thousand. It's a public outrage, that's what it is, a gouge."

TUGBUTTON BEAT another cane tattoo on the news desk.

"What's this young fellow think he's doing, anyway, this young fellow in the White House? We just ain't got that kind of money, me and you ain't got it, that is, and who's gonna pay these salaries? You and me, that's who. Who do you suppose put that young fellow up to proposing a $10,000 a year hike for congressmen. The feller who done that is the feller in the woodpile. A congressman, no doubt.

"And $35,000 a year for cabinet members. What about that? I've known a lot of cabinet members over the years, by their first names, too. They ain't worth it. Not to me, they ain't.

"What say? He can't get good men to run for congress or in the cabinet without that kind of money. Horsefeathers. Elihu Root wasn't paid like that nor Charles Evans Hughes, nor Charley McNary, Sam Rayburn and such. Good citizens don't demand to be overpaid."

Juror Reflects On 'Tropic' Trial

EDITOR
Independent-Journal

May I thank you for the fair coverage you gave the "Tropic" trial. And especially for the editorial in today's edition.

It so co-incided with my own impressions, that, with trepidation, I have sent you the enclosed, to print, if you see fit . . .

"TROPIC OF CANCER"
A JUROR'S THOUGHTS

I read the book, tried to be fair.
I was shook, so I'm a square?
This law, what did it really mean?
I read this book. Was it obscene?

I pondered as the hours flew.
Did it point out something new?
It's social worth? I know there's some
But is it lost, within the scum?

The social ills it pointed out,
It did not tell us how to rout.
It left us in a hopeless state,
With nothing left but lust and hate.

Henry George I thought of then.
He and many other men,
Have sought, for justice to emerge,
A way to end the awful scourge
Of poverty midst wondrous wealth,
Without bloodshed, without stealth.

In language that could not offend,
He sought to show us how to mend.
His theories on free world trade.
Some progress now is being made.

Time will tell which author helped,
To drown the cur that mankind whelped.

Back to the book without delusion,
I had to come to this conclusion:
It's social worth, within the law,
Is lost 'neath verbiage so raw,
The Average reader would not see,
The little forest, for the tree.

Censorship? I cannot say.
Can some one else be led astray
By the printed word per se?
I don't know, 'Cause I am me.

I'm not a poet, as you can see.
This just poured right out of me.

Smith A Factor In Novato Elections

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

If the noisy apologist of Supt. W. J. J. Smith are sincere let them start a recall against Trustees Marshall, Sereda and Kirk who accepted his resignation last week. Perhaps they should first "look at the record":

Feb. 26, 1954. First election of the new Novato Unified School District. Smith a major factor in the "upset" defeat of Trustees John M. Bagshaw and Stephen Bruff.

June 6, 1954. Again Smith the determining factor in the defeat of a school bond issue and school tax increase proposal.

June 11, 1957. Novato "community service district" disguised as a "recreation district" defeated 1224 to 412. Smith had actively supported the proposal and his No. 1 press apologist who was a candidate for director finished last among eight candidates.

May, 1958. School election. Earl Marshall polls largest vote ever given a trustee. School tax rate increase defeated with Smith and his $100,000 "headquarters" at 7th and Grant a major issue.

Nov. 21, 1961. Unification of Novato and San Jose School Districts defeated despite espousal by Smith and his two school trustee partisans, Mrs. Leonara Dougherty and Marett Bousevain. Many Novato teachers openly or quietly opposed the proposal. Marshall, Sereda and Kirk finished first, second and fourth in a field of 11 candidates.

Fifty-five per cent of our Novato taxes go for "schools." Surely, we who pay the bill should have something to say in this matter.

Fall-Out Shared At Christmastime

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Christmas Island, 1962. In the spirit of the season, American and British leaders agreed today to share their nuclear fall-out with all peoples on the earth—whether they want it or not.

"Soviet scientists estimated," said a source close to a source, "that their 100 megaton series will kill 2,000,000 people and cripple thousands of babies with birth defects. Anything they can do, we can do better."

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A Milwaukee judge, inspecting the state prison at Waupun, needed a shave, so took a chair in the prison barbershop. The barber lathered his face, then suddenly recognized him as he was stropping the razor. "Say, you're Judge So-and-So," he growled. "You sent me up here for 20 years!"

The judge, who never lost his presence of mind, jumped up from his chair and exclaimed, "By Jove! What a coincidence! I'm up here to get a pardon for you!"

Two attractive girls sauntered down Broadway, with a lone sailor dogging their every footstep. Finally one of the girls wheeled round and announced angrily, "You there, Mr. Fresh! Either quit following us this way, or get another sailor!"

Happy New Year To All Who Have Been Helpful To This Reporter

HAPPY NEW YEAR: To the Ray Kemps of Tamalpais Valley, the Ranald Cockburns of San Anselmo, the William J. Browns of Marinwood (moving to Colorado Springs) and the George Baneys of Corte Madera for feeding me or putting me up on nights I've covered something whilst still living across the bay.

To whoever lands me an apartment in Mill Valley early in 1962 when I get to checking sources Hadden Roth et al have told me about.

To those police and sheriff's deputies who've been prompt in making reports. To Peggy Kempton and others in the D.A.'s office and to court clerks who keep reporters informed.

To police and assistant D. A.'s and assistant U. S. attorneys in San Francisco and those in more distant cities who've supplied their news.

To this newspaper and managing editor Jack Craemer for hiring me at the work I like best: Reporting for an alert city editor, Bryce W. Anderson, the best. Only the late Edward V. McQuade of the San Francisco Examiner was an equal . . . To associate editor Chip Day who has edited most of these columns . . . To news and makeup editors Donald G. Davis and Michael Percy.

To Judge Leonard A. Thomas who weathered a not easy case, the tropically prosecuted and defended "Tropic of Cancer" trial.

TO THE RESIDENTS of Marin, literate, volatile, articulate, for other dramatic productions in 1961, including: 1. The vote against junking the new government center, 2. The vote against scrapping the county administrator's office.

To Sue Bernard, wife of Clay Bernard (formerly of Mill Valley), press agent for Western Airlines, for getting me last-minute reservations for a roundtrip flight to Seattle Dec. 16-17.

To Harold A. Summers of Kent Woodlands, retiring in early January as an advance planning engineer for Highway 101. His wife Mary, who retires as county planning director March 1 (unofficially shortly after Jan. 31), is proud that while he served in Marin the marks Harold made on maps 10 or 12 years ago eventually became interchanges from Richardson Bay to Hamilton Field.

To Mary Summers, pronounced by one of our editors "one of the best back-door politicians in the county as well as a darn good planning director."

TO JUDGE JULIAN BAGET who has displayed energy and courage as the first fulltime city administrator for Novato . . . To County Administrator Alan Bruce who has kept his poise after having been stuffed into Cell 300 for more than five months.

To the pre-Dec. 5 county board of supervisors and its backers (including County Clerk George S. Jones) and to the new board and its backers (including those who oppose Jones).

In deference to Supervisor Peter H. Behr's plea for post-election sweetness and light I omit quoting what his constituents announced Dec. 5 as their next objectives . . . Finally, Happy New Year to the recently increased enthusiasm of courthouse employees.

Sound, Sensible Fall-Out Shelter Program To Cost $700 Million

WASHINGTON — Congress will undoubtedly approve the Administration's sensible fall-out shelter program. Fortunately this will bring to an end the miasmic, mercurial, and misinformed debate which has been dividing and frustrating the nation.

On a recent trip across the country, during which I met with a wide variety of audiences, I got as many questions on whether to shelter or not to shelter as on the John Birch Society. The public seemed to have as much trouble making up its mind as the Prince of Denmark.

I THINK THAT public indecision on the shelter program—an indecision which is now being resolved — came from three things:

1—President Kennedy began discussing the dire urgency of adequate shelters before presenting even the beginnings of an adequate program. This began the debate at the wrong end. We were talking endlessly about the danger of being without shelters without any clear idea of how we were going to get shelters. We had too much information on the perils of radioactive fallout and too little information on what to do about it.

2—It took the Administration too long to put together a constructive proposal on shelters. This visible groping on the part of the government tended to create either a confused public opinion or a vacuum.

3—In this confusion and into this vacuum passionately earnest and, as I see it, profoundly misguided people—the pacifists, the unilateralists (one-sided disarmers), the ban-the-bombers, and other—jumped aboard the anti-shelter theme with gusto.

NOW THAT THE Administration has a practical course of action, a real beginning toward fallout protection, the debate over shelters is coming into focus. I have no doubt that by the time the vote comes, both public opinion and Congressional opinion will support the President's program. It calls for an appropriation of $700 million, which, with state and local contributions, will provide community shelters reaching to the protection of 20,000,000 people. This is a good start.

This is a good start in the right direction. It rests on these sound premises.

The duty of any sane and any humane government is to save the lives of as many of its citizens as possible, whether the peril be an earthquake or a nuclear bomb.

The lives of millions of children and adults outside the immediate blast of an atomic attack can be saved by adequate shelters. The scientists agree that the greatest dangers of radioactivity do not continue for more than two weeks, in many cases less. Western culture has never been heedless of human life; let's not begin.

A shelter program is neither an individual nor a national act of fear. It is an individual act of prudence. It rests on a precious and honorable regard for human life.

A shelter program is not provocative. It is a shield against surprise attack and by making surprise attack less successful would make it less likely. Lifeboats on a ship do not provoke the storm. Shelters are no threat to anybody; they could be a deterrent.

A nuclear war may be quite unlikely. The mutual deterrent of nuclear terror is very great. Probably the shelters will never have to be used, but in the words of Nicholas Rosa, associate director of "Science World," in his compelling article in "The Reporter": "It is better to have these things (shelters) and not need them, than to need them and not have them."

South won the first club and thought about the two red suits. "If the diamond finesse works," he said to himself, "I need nothing else."

So saying, he led the queen of diamonds from his hand and let it ride as a finesse. East won with the king of diamonds and forced out South's second club trick. South had only eight tricks, and East got in with the ace of hearts to defeat the contract with the rest of his clubs.

Now let's go back to the first trick and see how South should choose between the red suits. Begin with the assumption that East surely has the ace of hearts for his vulnerable overcall. He may or may not have such additional strength as the queen of hearts or the king of diamonds.

CONSIDER BOTH: Consider both suits before making up your mind. If you try the diamonds first and lose the finesse, you are dead — just as we have seen. If you finesse first for the queen of hearts, however, you may still recover.

Suppose, for example, that you lead a heart at the second trick and are unlucky enough to lose a finesse to the queen. You can win the club return and fall back on a diamond finesse. You make your contract if West has either the queen of hearts or the king of diamonds. You are not dependent solely on finding the king of diamonds in the West hand.

As it happens, your first play loses to the ace. You can win the club return and continue the finesse through West's hearts. You get three hearts, three spades, one diamond and two clubs. There is no need, now, for a diamond finesse.

Bagged Food May Have Big Future

Manufacturers Of Polyethylene Getting Ready

NEW YORK (AP)—Food in the bag — whether to boil or to store in bulk in freezers—may play a bigger part in your life in the new year.

It will if today's plans of both the food packaging industry and the makers of polethylene work out on schedule.

They are confident of expansion of the already fast growing boil-in-the-bag sales.

They also count on selling you on the idea of frozen vegetables in family-size proportions—but not in solid blocks—packaged in these filmy bags. This way food can be taken from the package to fit your individual need at the moment, with the remainder going back in the freezer.

Noting the rapidly increasing use of bags of prepared foods that can be heated in boiling water, the U.S. Industrial Chemicals Co., predicts this will help push total polyethylene sales in 1962 by 10 to 15 per cent.

The Modern Foods Council says 100 mlilion boil-in-the-bag units were sold this year. There are some 100 food items so packaged by about 40 food processors. They predict hopefully that sales will reach 300 million units before 1965.

The Food and Drug Administration permits the use of polyethylene film under prescribed safety conditions. Uses range from production of packaging materials and containers to equipment intended for use in producing processing, transporting or holding food.

Polyethylene makers and food processors say this ruling has opened the door now to many possible new uses.

Example: Coatings for milk cartons and bakery trays. Other developments reported include lining for cartons to hold liquids, and formed containers with tear tapes.

Formed Container Corp. asserts it can offer price advantages for the polyethylene packs as against older forms of food containers.

Money spent in early research in the polyethylene packaging for food by Seeman Bros. has paid off well, its chairman, John B. Fowler Jr., says. A pioneer in the field was its Seabrook Farms division with a campaign to get housewives to buy boil-in-the-bag foods.

Birdseye and many other food packagers are marketing fruits and vegetables in the new packs.

Their sales talk is that by preserving frozen foods in such bags and then popping them into boiling water, the housewife can either thaw and warm prepared food or cook frozen raw foods and conserve the vitamin content of the food in the bag.

Fowler says the boil-in-the-bag principle makes possible packing special diets for hospital or home use and providing restaurants with ready entrees.

Food firms like Armour, General Foods and Seeman Bros. are working hard now to convince restaurant owners to join the parade in numbers and volume of usage.

Radioactive Fallout Level Reported Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government today reported further declines in contamination of milk with radioactive iodine from Russia's recent series of nuclear tests.

Dr. Luther L. Terry, surgeon general of the public health service, said the latest findings gave weight to a Nov. 24 report which found that levels of radioactive iodine in air, water and foods were well below permissible levels.

Retraining Program For Jobless Is Not Attracting Enough People

EDITOR'S NOTE—How is the nation's first depressed retraining program going? Not so good, reports show, despite the incentive of a "earn - as - you-learn" provision. Officials in Huntington, W. Va., pilot site of the retraining program, are puzzled and a bit disappointed.)

By DICK LEONARD

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—The nation's first federal retraining program for the jobless has gotten off to a slow start because—of all things—lack of widespread response from the people it was designed to help.

Only about 750 of the estimated 7,000 to 8,000 unemployed in West Virginia's Cabell and Wayne counties—rail, coal mining and industrial areas—have applied for retraining, even though pay is offered to those learning new jobs.

Officials connected with the program—designed as a federal pilot project to aid areas of chronic unemployment — are puzzled and disturbed by the relatively small number of applications.

"I'm concerned," says Clark D. Todd, a coal company executive who devoted considerable time working with the Cabell-Wayne redevelopment commission to help start the program here. "I thought we'd get more than a token response."

"Some of our unemployed people are just going to have to face facts and change their vocations to get jobs," says D. W. Fox Jr. He is coordinator of the Huntington East Trade School, where some of the retraining classes are held.

The program, set up under the U.S. Area Redevelopment Act, is financed by $15,000 in federal money. It is designed to retrain 325 jobless by June 30, end of the fiscal year. So far, only 200 unemployed have been certified for classes.

When the program was started, newspapers, television and radio stations participated in a publicity campaign to herald the aim of teaching workers with few job opportunities new skills they could use in new, less depressed vocations. Added icing to the cake was $23 a week subsistence pay offered while in training.

Some people anticipated a tremendous rush for the "get-paid-while-you-learn" program. It never came. The State Department of Employment Security, charged with processing applicants, hired nine extra people for its Huntington office. The extra staff has been cut to four for lack of applicants.

George Gunnoe, manager of the Huntington employment office, wasn't completely surprised that jobless workers didn't knock down doors to enroll.

"People are slow to act," he explains. "Besides, many in the area are skilled people expecting to be called back to work in plants or in the construction field."

The Huntington office lists 6,542 unemployed in its active file. These are people in the two-county area who have filed or renewed their unemployed pay claims. Many draw the maximum of $32 a week for as long as 39 weeks.

Gunnoe's staff contacted 1,015 of the likeliest prospects for retraining. Of these, 640 came in for interviews and information, with 479 interested enough to take aptitude tests.

Gunnoe reports 52 per cent of the tested applicants did not show aptitude for the courses offered—in small appliance repair, stenography, nursing aid, automatic transmission repair, typing, route salesmanship and table waiting.

Classes in three of the fields started earlier this month. Another, in automatic transmission repair, is set to start the first of the year. But the courses in typing, route salesmanship and table waiting are held up for lack of certified trainees.

Gunnoe thinks the fields offered—picked by the employment people on the basis of jobs needing workers—may be part of the problem.

"It's been our experience that people wanting typing also want shorthand," he says. "So they can enroll for stenography, where they get both.

"Route salesmanship needs a man who is a born salesman. He can't be trained as a salesman. People don't think they need training to become waitresses and waiters. In fact, many of the waitresses are taking courses in nursing aid because of higher pay in that field."

The employment office staff generally get one of three answers from the unemployed prospects contacted about the retraining program.

1. I'm just not interested.
2. I expect to be called back to work soon.
3. I'm too old to be starting all over again.

But Gunnoe, who has been manager of the employment office here for 24 years, isn't discouraged.

"This is strictly an experimental program," he says. "After all, we're the first in the nation with this on the federal level. It's just like a laboratory, and we're learning from thte ground up."

100 MILLION PASSENGERS

Airline Reaches A Flying Milestone

WASHINGTON (UPI)—American Airlines, whose first president hated flying so much he always took trains, today becomes the world's first airline to have carried 100 millon passengers.

Amercan said a check of statistical records going back 35 years revealed that the 100 millionth passenger will board one of its 850 flights sometime today.

It was a considerable achievement for a carrier that in its first year of operation—1926—carried only 190 passengers. It took a full decade for American to fly its first million customers. But the second million figure was reached in only two and a half years. And by 1955, the airline had hauled 50 million people.

American traces its beginnings to April 15, 1926, when a predecessor company, Robertson Aircraft Corp., operated a DH-4 biplane on a Chicago-St. Louis flight under a new government mail contract. The pilot's name was Charles A. Lindbergh.

Robertson disappeared in a succession of mergers and acquisitions that eventually wound up in the 1930 formation of a 35 million-dollar holding company known as the Aviation Corporation. One of its subsidiaries was American Airways, itself a combination of four small carriers.

America's early equipment was a hodge-podge of various aircraft, most of them single-engine planes including one the pilots dubbed "The Flying Brick." It landed with the effortless grace of a large boulder. Queen of the early fleet was the Ford trimotor.

The pilots themselves occupied an airman's social stratum several rungs below that of other airline crews. In its early days, American was not regarded as a model of aviation efficiency. Its crews seldom wore matching uniforms, and the company's reputation was not enhanced by its president's open fear of flying.

"In those days," one now-retired American captain recalls, "when an American pilot came into an airport coffee shop, he was lucky to get even a brief nod from other crews. Sometimes they'd even laugh out loud."

But the fledgling airline literally pulled itself up by its own bootstraps with a succession of aviation innovations such as the first air travel credit card. In 1934 it introduced the first sleeper service—in a twin-engine biplane called the Condor. And it was an American Airlines aeronautical engineer, William Littlewood, who laid down the specifications for history's most famous airliner, the DC-3.

American started out with about $700,000 capital. It now has more than 150 million dollars invested in its operations and ranks second only to United in size.

The airline named veteran flier James H. Doolittle as the "national symbol" of its millionth passenger. Doolittle, tribution to commercial aviation, received a crystal bowl. In addition, American is selecting an individual passenger at each of the major cities it serves to receive appropriate gifts in special ceremonies.

FBI Places Accused Shotgun Slayer On Most Wanted List

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Francis Laverne Brannan, a freckle-faced Midwesterner wanted for murder, was placed today on the FBI's list of 10 most wanted criminals.

Brannan has been accused of the shot gun slaying of a 73-year-old clergyman's widow at Rushville, Ill., on Oct. 23. The FBI said the 36-year-old fugitive should be "considered armed and extremely dangerous."

The wanted man, who has a record of sex perversion, is described as a dapper dresser who fancies cashmere sweaters and prefers white collar jobs.

Brannan has been in trouble with the police since age 11. His crimes since then have ranged from drunkenness through burglary, auto theft and perversion to murder. Most of his arrests occurred in California.

He is known as a moody, unfriendly drifter. He vanished from the Rushville area at about the time the elderly woman was found murdered at her farm home. Her stolen automobile was found at Springfield, Ill.

According to the FBI, Brannan enjoys patronizing first class night clubs and restaurants but makes his residence in rooming houses and second rate hotels. He is known to be adept at passing bad checks. For sociability, the fugitive frequents taverns.

Although a bachelor, Brannan has told his family he has courted women in Kentucky, California and Tennessee during his wanderings.

Brannan, a native of Frederick, Ill., has worked as an automobile salesman, clerk and sales correspondent.

The wanted man is white, stands 5 feet, 11 inches tall and weighs between 160 to 170 pounds. He has light brown hair, blue eyes, medium complexion and build. In addition to being noticeably freckled, Brannan has a scar on his left shoulder and is believed to have a gold cap on an upper front tooth.

PROMOTED — Leo E. Sullivan of 21 Mercury Avenue, Tiburon, has been promoted to assistant vice president at Bank of America's head office in San Francisco, announced Frank E. Young, vice president and personnel relations officer.

New State Law Covers Sale Of Subdivisions

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Owners, subdividers or agents of subdivided lands without on-site improvements being offered for sale in California will have to furnish a copy of a state report on their property before or when placing advertising for the land.

W. A. Savage, real estate commissioner, said he has notified advertising media of the new regulation in an effort to help newspapers and other media to guard against the possibility of carrying misleading advertising of speculative land developments.

The commissioner's report, which already was required by law for any tract offered for sale in California, is based upon a careful inspection and analysis of the subdivision, Savage said. He said such reports are designed to disclose the current physical and financial condition of the property and the terms of its offer.

New Health Care Law Will Help The Aged

About 18,000 persons, over 65 but not eligible for old age security, will benefit annually from a new law extending health care to the aged after Jan. 1, it was reported today by Dr. Warren L. Bostick of San Rafael, California Medical Assn. president.

The law, Bostick said, is an extension of the Kerr-Mills law governing financing of health care and which extends federal, state and county cost-sharing to pay part or all of medical expenses for the aged.

The law provides no assistance for the first 30 days of hospitalization or nursing home care, Bostick said.

Details of elegibility may be obtained through the Marin County Welfare Department at 622 Fourth Street in San Rafael. Applications for benefits may be made at the same office either by the patient or by relatives.

Novato Burglary Suspect Arrested

A suspect in the Dec. 15 burglary of the Novato Firestone Store has been arrested by Richmond police, Novato police chief Roy McLaren said today.

Harold Edward Walker, 22, of Richmond, was arrested there on Dec. 22 on an assault and battery charge. He was released Dec. 24 on bail from the Richmond jail, McLaren said. He is scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court on Jan. 3, according to McLaren.

Novato Police Officer Walter Weidauer surprised three men inside the Firestone Store Dec. 15. They fled on foot, leaving a previously stolen truck with home television and stereophonic sets in it. Walker was seen in Novato later that night.

Rewarding Inspection

LA JOLLA (AP) — An inspection disclosed that the radio in Mrs. Norman H. Pecores' automobile wasn't working because a leather folder, slipped up under the dashboard, was interfering.

The folder was found to contain $2,700 in U. S. Savings bonds, issued to F. H. Tewkbury, who had been wondering for two years what had happened to the bonds. He gave an unsolicited reward of $100 to Mrs. Pecores' adopted son, Charles, 11.

"Friends, doy ou ever get the feeling that no one is watching you?"

Novato School Broken Into

Two schools in Novato were broken into over the weekend, Novato police have reported.

The Lynwood School in the San Jose District was entered by someone breaking into a teachers' office and then going into the multi-purpose room, Principal Joseph T. Mouille told police. Minor vandalism was reported.

The multi-purpose room of the Marion School in the Novato district was also entered, Clarence Vogensen, maintenance superintendent, reported—but by boys who broke in to play basketball, according to police.

Stinson Postmaster Job Applications Out

Examination applications for the job of Stinson Beach postmaster will be accepted until Jan. 16, the U. S. Civil Service Commission announced today.

Mrs. Shirley Zion has been acting postmaster since the retirement of Ethel Hain Aug. 31. Miss Hain had been postmaster 15 years.

A written examination will be given in San Rafael at a date to be announced by the commission.

The job pays $4,975 pery ear and calls for at least one year of experience, with education beyond high school level acceptable in lieu of half of that. Age limits are 18 to 70.

Applications may be obtained at the Stinson Beach Post Office or by writing to the commission at 630 Sansome Street, San Francisco, or Washington, D. C.

The commission said the examination has been announced under revised qualification standards recently agreed upon between it and the Post Office Department.

Mrs. Zion, who lives on Lincoln Avenue, said she plans to take the examination. She is the wife of Harvey Zion Sr., a real estate broker in San Anselmo. Their son, Harvey Jr. is a Sausalito policeman.

The post office, now in the building adjacent to Bill's Superette on Shoreline Highway, is to be moved about Feb. 1 into a new building under construction on Calle Del Mar.

School Polio Vaccine Law Taking Effect

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Regulations which will put into motion the law requiring all public school pupils to be vaccinated against polio will take effect in mid-January, the state department of public health reported.

The law was adopted by the 1961 session of the legislature.

Students already admitted to school this year will be required to give evidence of immunization against polio when they come up for re-enrollment which, in most cases, will be next September.

The compulsory vaccination law generally will apply to all pupils enrolled in school from kindergarten through junior college. However, an exception from the requirement will be made where immunization is contrary to the belief of the pupil or parent.

Tax Rate Hike Program Mapped

Hal Stroube has been named by Mill Valley School District trustees as chairman of a citizen committee to publicize the district's campaign for an increase in its tax rate.

Trustees agreed Dec. 19 to ask for an increase and said they plan to meet in February to decide on the amount of increase.

Stroube, a publications specialist for Bechtel Corp. in San Francisco, lives at 160 Kipling Drive, Mill Valley.

Sausalito's Yule Decor Winners Told

The fantail cruiser La Jota, the Village Fair and the Reliable Shoe Shop were judged the best decorated in the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce Christmas decoration contest, president Russell H. Pappenhausen announced today.

Stuart Rose, ower of the Village Fair, received an award of a three-day vacation for two to Las Vegas for the best decorated building.

Ray Kriha received the same award for the most imaginative window display in his store, Reliable Shoe Shop. Woody Strebeigh received a Las Vegas vacation for having the best and most imaginative decorations on his boat, La Jota, tied up at Madden and Lewis Harbor.

Honorable mention in the contest went to the following merchants: Words and Music, Alex Young Realty, Bob Miller Realty, Le Grand Tour, Eastman-Ravizza Realty, Ole's Bakery, Langsam Realty, Edgewater Trade Fair and Eaton's of Sausalito.

Many of the merchants had beautiful interior displays, according to Edward Keen, chamber member, but the chamber restricted itself to judging exterior decorations.
